

Sewanee Joins College Athletic Conference

By STEVE MOOREHEAD

One of the most important events in Sewanee's recent athletic history was duplicated last Saturday, January 6. The long-awaited and much-discussed new athletic conference is now a reality. The new organization is to be called the College Athletic Conference, and the founding members are Sewanee, Washington & Lee, Centre, and Southwestern.

A long story of hard work and determination is behind this announcement. The idea was born at the NCAA convention in New York two years ago this month, when athletic directors and representatives from six small Southern schools informally discussed the possibility of a new athletic conference which would conform to the high standards and policies of these schools. It was at Pittsburgh it was decided that the above-mentioned schools plus Hampden-Sydney and Randolph-Macon, decided to look further into the idea in a formal meeting at the next convention in Sewanee. At that time, they carried the ball during the next year, organizing and calling a meeting of representatives from the six schools at Pittsburgh in January of 1961.

At Pittsburgh it was decided that the idea definitely had merit and plans were made to proceed as quickly as possible. The next meeting was held at Danville, Kentucky, last Spring, at which Dr. Thomas Spragens, president of Centre College, threw his support behind the project. He brought the subject up at a meeting of the heads of all six schools, and the idea was unanimously approved.

Dr. Spragens then drafted the constitution of the group, called the Articles of Organization. After being received and considered, the document was accepted by the University of the South, Washington & Lee University, Centre College, and Southwestern College. For various reasons Hampden-Sydney and Randolph-Macon declined to join. We feel that this document is so unique and so significant that it is being printed. (Continued on page three)

Sewanee Graduate To Join St. Luke's Faculty Next Fall

Joining the faculty of the School of Theology when it finishes his present year of studying and teaching as an American Fellow at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, England, will be the Rev. William Henry Foltz, Jr. The Rev. Mr. Foltz was a graduate of the University in the class of 1951. He received the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Theology from General Theological Seminary, New York, in 1954 and the Master's of Sacred Theology there in 1956. He was a Fellow and Tutor at General Seminary from 1954 to 1956. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1955. In 1956-57 he was Church Secretary for College Work Fellow at Harvard and then became a Fellow and Tutor at Trinity College in Toronto, Ontario. He will come to Sewanee in the fall of 1962 as assistant professor of philosophy, religion and ethics.

William Rankin was born in Middleboro, Kentucky. He majored in Greek here at the University, where he was salutatorian of his class. ## Cullen, Jordan, Haynes Elected '62 Class Officers Charles Cullen of Panama City, Florida was elected president of the class of 1962 at Sewanee by his classmates. In last month's election Clement Jordan of Fayetteville, North Carolina, was named secretary and Joseph Bernard Haynes, of High Point, North Carolina, editor.

Charles Cullen, who will continue as president of his class throughout his years as an alumnus, was editor of the University's yearbook, the Cap and Gown, in his junior year. He was a member of the publications board and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Clement Jordan was a sophomore representative on the University's Honor Council, has been on the wrestling and swimming teams, and the Sewanee Volunteer Fire Department. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Barney Haynes is a University Professor, chairman of the Discipline Committee, was sports editor of THE PEPPER, as well as handling publicity for the University Athletic Department. ## Nine Sewaneans Try For Woodrow Wilson Fellowships

Nine Sewanee candidates for Woodrow Wilson fellowships were interviewed by the regional committee Saturday morning, January 6 at the Dinkler-Andrew Jackson Hotel in Nashville. Professor Bond Fleming of Millaps College is the representative of this district. Professor Arthur Dugan is in charge of nominations from Sewanee.

These candidates include four English majors, two in mathematics, and one each in philosophy, history, and economics.

Ed Moore (geology), Stewart Evert (Michigan), Duncan McArthur (Louisiana), and Richard Tillgahr (Tennessee) are the four candidates majoring in English.

The two mathematics majors are William Priestly (Mississippi) and Bill Engler (Alabama and Georgia). The other three are Jerry Johnson (Georgia), philosophy; Frank Jones (Alabama), economics; and John Vaughan (Tennessee), history.

For the purpose of selecting Woodrow Wilson Fellows, the United States and Canada have been divided into fifty-two regions, with a quota based on the number of baccalaureate degrees granted in each.

The foundation offers a total of 1,000 Fellowships for first year graduate work leading to careers in college teaching.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation is the culmination of a program which was started at Princeton University in 1945. A national scope was made possible in 1952 when the General Education Board, the Association of American Colleges and Universities, and the Carnegie Corporation decided to underwrite the fellowships.

With a grant from the Ford Foundation in 1957, the number of fellowships was increased to its present number of one thousand.

Sewanee had eight Woodrow Wilson Fellows last year. The fellowship covers the cost of tuition and fees at the graduate school, fifteen hundred dollars for the fellow's expenses, and a dependency allowance for married recipients.

Candidates in the humanities and the social sciences are usually the winners but candidates in the natural sciences who have stated a clear intent to teach are considered.

Sewanee Accepts College Bowl Invitation

Sewanee has been invited to the College Bowl, a quiz program on TV sponsored by General Electric. An preliminary written test will be given to all interested students this Friday at 4:30 in the chemistry lecture room in Science Hall. It is hoped that a large group will try this test which will consist of 100 short answer questions in many fields.

The team of four students and their coach will have all expenses paid for the trip to New York including an evening at the theater of their choice. Sewanee's projected date is March 11.

Present plans call for the selection of several teams to practice the game each weekend in February. The final team will be chosen from these students by a committee of faculty and Gownsmen yet to be chosen. Dr. Guenther will be coach for the team.

In the program, the teams compete for scholarships $1,500 will go to the winning school and $500 to the loser. The winning team may return to compete for five consecutive weeks, at which time they retire undefeated.

Chuck Berry To Entertain Mid-Winters Crowd Here

By MIKE MABERRY

Chuck Berry and the Bill Johnson Combo will perform at the German Club sponsored Mid-Winter's Weekend. Earlier announcements reported that Bo Diddley was to play here but Berry is now scheduled to highlight the weekend.

The University dance which will be held in the old gym from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. will require only coats and ties for the boys and party dresses for the girls.

Tickets, which go on sale in about two weeks, will be $4 stat or couple. Prices at the door will be higher.

Berry was born in St. Louis, Missouri, where he attended Sumner High School. While in high school he began singing in the Glee Club and became interested in guitar. Shortly thereafter, he was playing for house parties and church affairs in the St. Louis area.

In 1952, Berry formed his own group, the Chuck Berry Combo. While on tour in Chicago he met blues singer "Muddy" Waters who advised him to see Chess Recording Company in St. Louis about making a record.

After hearing Berry's auditioning tape, the company signed him immediately, and in June, 1955, his first recording, "Maybellene," made him nationally famous. He received the Triple Crown Award from BILLBOARD.

Texaco Gives $1,200 Check To University

The University has been again selected by Texaco, Inc. as one of the privately financed United States colleges and universities to be included in the Company's side-to-ocean program. Dr. Edward McCrady, vice-chancellor, announced the receipt of Texaco's $1200 check recently. The grant is for the 1962-63 academic year and is without restriction as to its use.

Texaco's support of higher education, according to a statement from the company, is based on the belief that an investment in America's youth and the continued well-being of its colleges and universities is an investment in the future welfare of the economy and the country.

Dean Announces Sabbatical Leaves

Dean Robert S. Lancaster has announced Sabbatical Leave plans for Doctors Buck, Grimes, Yeaman, and Thorogood for the coming year.

Dr. Stratton Buck will leave following the end of the first semester to go to Paris where he will study the historical background of 19th Century architecture.

Dr. J. M. Grimes will leave Sewanee in February 1963 to go to Athens, Greece where he will do research on Classical archeology as it has developed since he did graduate work on this subject at Johns Hopkins University. He will be compiling information for a handbook for students of Greek archeology. Dr. Grimes will make his headquarters at the American School of Classical Studies (of which Sewanee is a member institution) in Athens.

Dr. Harry C. Yeaman will leave in September of 1962 and go first to Plymouth, England, then to Southern France, on to Monaco, and finally to Naples, Italy. Dr. Yeaman will be doing research on the effects of ocean currents past and present on eopods, a marine organism living in marine algae.

Dr. James E. Thorogood will be absent from Sewanee for the school year 1962-63. Dr. Thorogood plans to spend most of the year in Aix-en-Provence, near Marseilles where he will be teaching a course in economics at the Institute for American Universities there. Sewanee is one of the sponsoring universities for this institute.

O. G. Privileges, Responsibilities, College Bowl, Discussed by Order

by CHARLES CULLEN

The time has come for a serious evaluation of the Order of Gownmen. Before its last meeting there was talk of introducing a resolution calling for the dissolution of the Order. This was not met as a general idea, but was to be seriously proposed and considered. If the Order would not vote for more meetings, it was to be proposed that no more meetings be held, and this proposal has sound grounds for adoption. What has the Order done in the past two years? Is the Order still effective? It is hoped that the following question will be answered by the administration when it responds to the resolution passed by the Order in December. It was decided prior to the meeting that it might be best to wait on a dissolution proposal and to try to solve the problem positively, moving in a positive direction. This is the purpose of the resolution which was introduced and passed unanimously at the last meeting. So the faculty and administration will know that this was a serious resolution with serious intentions, it is my purpose in writing this to bring to light some of the grievances of the Order and to analyze what we, the seniors, have seen happen to the Order during the past three years.

When I refer to the "powers of the Order" during my first year at Sewanee, and even during my second, I do not mean to imply that the Order's resolutions were accepted as law by the administration without fail. It is my main observation that during these first years the Order had something of importance to pass resolutions, and once passed, the members felt that they were helping shape the policy toward rules and regulations. The fault that we no longer feel this way could lie on the Order itself, and not on the administration. During the year 1958-59, discipline during party weekends was virtually non-existent. A senior can recall seeing a party on the campus, with a crowd of people, with a column or two of members of drinking fraternities, drink in hand, girl under arm, all helping each make his way down University Avenue to the football game, where there was just as much revelry as the crowd watched the Tigers win another game during their first undefeated season since '90. After the game the fraternity houses were open until 4:30 a.m., and believe me, they were used until then. Girls left Sewanee convinced that no college had parties like we did, and rightly so. To my knowledge no other campus in the South was as open and lenient on its social life. But the alumni were not so shocked and the Regents wanted action. There was some question as to whether Sewanee was considered number one in the South by scholars or by brewers. This is where the change began in the powers of the Order. At its first meeting in the fall of 1959, Dean Webb read to the Order the revised rules as adopted by the faculty concerning all phases of student discipline. The Order quickly responded with a compromise. It was turned down. The faculty was determined to try the new rules for a full year at least. The rules remain virtually the same today, with the exception of a compromise on the curfew hour during party weekends. It should be noted that our curfew is still 15 minutes earlier than SMAA's. Why have we lost the power of governing ourselves, and whose fault is it?

It can be argued that the Order should have had foresight and passed its own rules restricting the student body. If it had tried to do this, I believe it would not have succeeded. It was the general opinion that we had had a good year. The football team was undefeated, the campus was full of construction, spirits were aflame with the Highlander Folk School controversy, and a good time was had by all. We were looking forward to another good year when the Dean presented his thesis to the Order in the name of those on high, sitting in Walsh, pondering the evils of Sewanee men. Perhaps he was an angel in appearance, and his was the greatest thing to happen to Sewanee. I doubt it, if for no other reason than the feeling it gave the Order of Gownmen. This feeling has taken two years to fully manifest itself. Witness the first two meetings of the Order.

What was done?—nothing. Not a damn thing. The Order was tired of presenting resolutions which were not given the time of day. The new rules were introduced, the Order under Mr. Howland and Mr. Barnwell bustled itself with rewriting the constitution. The second year under Mr. Williamson, the Order tried to regain some of its power. Now, under Mr. Flynn, it must either regain its power and influence, or write a new installation speech for the Vice-Chancellor to read when he installs new gownmen. We all have seen our teeth when we hear it now. It's like sitting a slave's heel and then making him tilt in the back of the bus. But that's a horse of a different color and I do not intend to get into that.

The faculty have been asked to present their ideas on the subject at the next meeting of the Order. It will be interesting to hear what is said. I feel that we could be moving in the right direction with this recent resolution. It was a shrewd move on the part of the Dean of the College to ask the Order to decide whether to send a delegation to the College Bowl, but note that the faculty voted first. If some good ideas are presented and the faculty vote for the Order to be able to exercise the power and influence it is supposed to have, look for a serious move to dissolve the Order or at least discontinue meetings, and the wearing of the gown become a useless anachronism.

O. G. Privileges, Responsibilities, College Bowl, Discussed by Order

December Meeting extract prepared by O. G. Secretary DUNCAN McARTHUR

President Roy Flynn read a letter from the Dean of the College concerning the resolution urging the University to take some action to provide the student body with adequate medical care, which was proposed by Grover Jackson and was passed unanimously.

President Flynn also urged on behalf of a member of the faculty that the Order of Gownmen live up to their gentlemen's agreement not to park in front of Walsh-Eliet Hall or in the faculty parking lot behind Science Hall.

Bill Shastan presented the following amendment to the Constitution of the Order of Gownmen:

John Smith made a motion that a joint committee of faculty members and students be organized to decide upon Sewanee's representatives. Christie Hopkins proposed an amendment to the motion to the effect that members of the team be chosen by a competition sponsored by the committee. More discussion followed after which the amendment failed to pass. Mr. Smith's motion carried.

Mike Curtis made a motion that the Order not enforce freshman attendance at athletic events other than football and basketball games. Discussion followed after which the motion failed.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

The Dean's letter in answer to the Gownmen's Resolution on student medical care is attached below.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: What do you think of the quality of the University's provisions for student medical care?

HARRISON HOLMES: I don't trust it. I was standing out there at the hospital, about to faint, dripping blood all over the place and all they cared about was their floor. My life wasn't important, only their cold, dull floor. I was given a not-so-clean towel and told not to drip on the floor. Questions later, after the loss of much blood and a lot of time, I received five stitches. If I got hit had been any more serious, I would surely have suffered a cruel death.

Dave Knapp: I think that student medical care provisions are all right, but I think that there should be some doctor out at the hospital at all times. A resident doctor? Yes . . . you go out to the hospital and they don't know what to do for you. They call the doctor, and most of the time they can't get hold of him. I think that they should be somebody there on the job who knows what he's doing.

Whereas: the Honor Council is a major arm of the student government at the University of the South, and is recognized as an extremely important body, and

Whereas: the Executive Committee of the Order of Gownmen is composed of the leaders of the most important student organizations, and does not include the chairman of the Honor Council, therefore

Be It Resolved: That the constitution of the Order of Gownmen be amended so that the chairman of the Honor Council receive a seat on the Executive Committee.

The amendment was passed for the first time.

Frank Middleton proposed the following resolution:

Whereas: the Order of Gownmen was designed expressly for the purpose of honoring those who have shown themselves to be intellectually and morally respectable by giving them certain privileges and assigning to them in return responsibility for maintenance of the best traditions and customs of Sewanee; and

Whereas: the privileges of the Order of Gownmen have been abridged so that they are now negligible and of little consequence, making the wearing of the gown a dubious distinction; and

Whereas: the lack of concrete privileges seriously detracts from the prestige that the wearing of the gown was designed to have with the student body;

Whereas: the Order of Gownmen is still invested with the responsibility of maintaining the standards of student conduct and is intrinsically to show qualities of leadership which by their own nature also demonstrate the wearer of the gown to be worthy of trusting with some extra privileges; and

Whereas: we, the members of the Order of Gownmen, believe that the privileges granted are not commensurate with the responsibilities assigned us; whereas we believe that the Order as a whole could assume its responsibilities more effectively if more responsibilities were granted to the Order; whereas we believe that the position of the Order could be enhanced and its influence upon the entire student body thereby greatly increased if some concrete distinctive privileges were granted the members of the Order;

Be It Therefore Resolved: That the Order of Gownmen leave that the Administration to grant the members of the Order privileges of some consequence that will show faith in their conduct, we will coordinate the responsibilities assigned to them, and will thus make the gown a greater reward to the wearer.

Be It Further Resolved: That we petition the Administration to express its opinion and intentions concerning this matter at the next meeting of the Order of Gownmen.

DEAN ROY:

The observations of the Order of Gownmen about our hospital service have been seriously considered by the administration. We realize that some dissatisfaction may result from Dr. Couser's living in Cowan. We have talked to Dr. Couser about responding readily to calls. He says that he has responded in the past, but that he often makes daily and nightly trips. It is not expected, however, that this situation will continue indefinitely. In the future we expect to have a young physician at the hospital who will be in attendance upon our students as Health Officer of The University of the South. We are aware of our responsibilities and have, even as you, considered the possibilities of grievous injury on the athletic field. We will have an immediate attendance upon any injured or seriously ill student a competent physician. If an official of the University is called, he can make necessary arrangements within a matter of minutes. We do say that during the past years no student has suffered significantly from inattention. We think that we provide an even higher degree of medical care than is available in most homes.

We welcome your criticism and your interest in problems affecting our campus life. With the deepest kind of appreciation of the service of The Order of Gownmen to this University, I am Dave Knapp: I didn't go to the hospital. I went to the clinic (University Health Office, Gailor Hall) with a severely cut thumb and waited an hour before the Health Officer showed up. I got there at 7:45 and he came at 8:45 a.m. He's supposed to be there all right. You say that this hematoma doctor thought very little of the University Health Officer's work on your foot? That's right. My doctor found three pieces of glass still in the foot. At home they had to put in (in the cut which the Health Officer didn't sew up) two internal stitches and four external stitches plus a drain. Another interesting thing: I needed a ride back to the dorm from Gailor because it was raining and I only had one good foot. I had to hop back to the dorm; the doctor was too busy to give me a ride.

DICK MATEX: An experience which I know of illustrates the need for some improvements in the medical situation here: A couple of years ago, a boy fell out of the third story of Hoffmann and broke his back. When his friends called Emerald-Hodgson Hospital they were told that they would have to bring him out in a car or something. This was around 2:00 a.m. They finally got him there, although he screamed all the way. No doctor was on duty when he arrived; he was given nothing to relieve his pain. He moaned through the rest of the night and was finally attended to the next morning. His mother, with judgment I admire, had him taken to Chattanooga for treatment. Luckily the shoddy treatment he received here led no consequences beyond that night's extreme pain.

I hate to get mussy about this thing, but I remember something about the Hippocratic Oath and what it demands of a doctor. Even though the boy turned out all right, it seems that a doctor who doesn't go attend to somebody who has fallen from a third story window isn't quite following the Hippocratic Oath.

It looks like a hospital serving an area the size of the one which Emerald-Hodgson serves would at least have some kind of ambulance (they cost less than some stained-glass windows we see being installed).

It doesn't like to say like some kind of fantastical screamer from the W.C.T.U. or C.O.R.E. or something, but when people's health and safety are concerned, I cannot restrain my screaming.

The resolution passed.

After informing the Order of the faculty's decision to allow the Order of Gownmen to decide on whether or not to send a team to the College Bowl, President Flynn opened the floor to discussion on this subject. A lively discussion followed during which Heywood Harvey made a motion that Sewanee send a team March 11. The motion was passed unanimously even though Mr. Harvey modestly refused to go himself.

Tigers Tour The South

by BILL STIRLING

On January 6th the hoopers came home against Tusculum College for their first game since the tournament in Florida which ended just before the Christmas recess. The Tigers came through their Florida tour in very creditable fashion.

Last Friday night the whole team hit for a very high percentage as they coasted over to battled the Pioneers of Tusculum and led 36 to 25 at the end of the first half. Guard John Smith, playing his first game since his illness before the holidays, poured in 15 points during the first half to lead the Tiger scorers.

Both teams came back on the floor at the opening of the second half with neither showing the same hustle of the first half. Son Edgin and Duncan sparked the team for their earlier lack of spirit, as the Tigers got hot and peppered the bucket at a 40 per cent average throughout the second half. At one point they led by 25 points, but the Pioneers hit a few quick baskets at the end to bring the final score to 74-61 with the Tigers on top.

On Saturday night the tall, talented Tigers traveled to Birmingham, Ala. and took on the scrappy Birmingham-Southern Panthers. Sewanee had their most disastrous night since their game with Vanderbilt. Sewanee made 20 four mistakes during the game and missed easy shots consistently. The Tigers were definitely the better team on the floor, and it was an infuriating injury to see them lose to a team which they knew was not as good as they were.

TIGER TALK

The big news this week is, of course, the new College Athletic Conference. This is in our opinion a wonderful thing for Sewanee athletics. For the first time since we dropped out of the SEC in 1939, Tiger athletic teams will have a definite purpose, something to strive for.

Although present membership of the conference is only four, it is certainly not limited to this number. In fact, the name of the conference was purposely made very general, so as not to discourage schools from other sections of the country from entering. We hear that even now Washington University in St. Louis is making inquiries.

Sewanee wrestling team certainly made a fine showing in the Chattanooga Invitational last month. While it was an individual meet, with no team championships awarded, the Tigers did as well as anybody. Three Sewanee matmen, Bill Yates, Frank Finney, and Fred Wunderlich, topped firsts. This record was equalled only by Auburn, which also took three firsts. Some really good performances were turned in, and we look for equally good com-

Tiger hoopers have also done well lately. They looked very good on their recent trip to Florida and against Tusculum Friday. The next basketball game is to be played here, against Lambuth this Saturday.

Sewanee Matmen Take Three Firsts In Invitational

While students from Sewanee were making merry and departing for a peaceful vacation, there were eight Sewanee men starring, abating, and making it up down in Chattanooga. The defending title composed Sewanee's wrestling team at the invitational in Chattanooga. Their purpose was to get some valuable experience and also get a glimpse at some of their opponents for the coming season.

After the fighting was over all were happy about the results, and Coach Moore said he was proud of everyone. The tournament was held on an individual basis with twelve teams being represented, but there was no team competition. Sewanee and Auburn, last year's SEC Champ, led the field with three firsts each.

Yates, Finney, and Wunderlich took the firsts followed by Hughes who took second behind Wunderlich. Haynes, Patsy, and Setters gained thirds, and F. Edgel took fourth.

There were even some non-conference schools represented such as a 'certain group' from Lexington, Va. (Washington A. Lee) and VPI. Other great satisfaction was derived from our victories over three of the grapplers from the land of Robert E. Lee.

All the trophies taken do not mean a thing until the regular season gets under way against Emory in Atlanta this Saturday. The indications are good, and it seems certain all the boys are going to try to live up to their good showings thus far.

UNV. OF FLORIDA

The Tiger Swimmers of Sewanee lost their second meet of the season this afternoon 59-25 to the powerful University of Florida Gators. Florida, the defending national champion, set new Champions left in their wake no less than four new Sewanee pool records. In the Medley Relay the Gators shattered the old pool mark of 4:14 with a 3:39 while in the 220 Freestyle Terry Green bettered an old individual record of 2:01 with a 2:14. The 200 Individual Medley saw the Gators' Eddie Reese set the old record of 2:34. In the 100 and 200 Freestyle, Lewis (S) and Alderson (S) took 2:13 and finally Jerry Livingston shattered the old mark of 2:34 in the 200 Butteryfly with a 2:04.

Tigers Take Second In Florida Tourney

Sewanee completed its Florida barnstorm with much success. The Tigers played the first two nights in Lakehall as they participated in the Citrus Invitational. Invitational this tournament was an honor for Sewanee, and it was owed to the good showings by the Tigers in their last two tournament appearances in the two previous years.

We were eager to play ball and showed up by turning back a stubborn Rollins five, 62-60, on the first night. The following evening we met the Rollins' host team, Florida Southern, in the finals. There were many bad calls at the officials' expense, intent on giving the victory trophy to the home team. The Tigers forced the game into three over times until they finally secured the officials' attention on giving the victory trophy to the home team. The Tigers forced the game into three over times until they finally secured the officials' attention on giving the victory trophy to the home team. The Tigers forced the game into three over times until they finally secured the officials' attention on giving the victory trophy to the home team.

Freshman Joe Doughton scored in 30 minutes against the Rollins and was named "Sparky" Edgin also played fine ball as he was top picked for the all-tourney squad.

The tired Tigers played the Hatters of Stetson College in Deland the next night. Sewanee showed their abilities again, but unfortunately they had little left for an all-out effort. Stetson turned back the Tigers 68-62. This is not a bad score considering that Stetson has basketball scholarships and meets some of the best teams in the country. The Hatters play no football, and they pride themselves in their good basketball team.

We should all get out and see them when they play their next home game. We do have a good team.

ed in this issue. Especially noteworthy is the clause which prohibits all forms and types of athletic scholarships and the clause which leaves all policing and formal governance to the integrity of the member schools. To the best of our knowledge these features are unique to the College Athletic Conference.

The new conference will include all possible sports, beginning in the fall of 1962. Champions will be declared and trophies awarded in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and golf. If at all possible tournaments will be held in basketball, tennis, golf, and track next year to determine the conference champion. The procedure to be followed in swimming and wrestling is not yet clear, as Sewanee and AL are the only schools which presently compete in these sports. However, when and if Centre and Southwestern field teams conference competition will certainly be held.

AL athletic director Walter Bryant well emphasized the fact that this is to be a first-class, well-organized conference. Records and statistics will be kept and trophies and individual medals will be awarded.

Homer Smiles Is 'Coach of the Year'

Homer Smiles, former Sewanee guard and new athletic director at Leeds High School, Birmingham, Alabama, has been named for the second time "Coach of the Year of Jefferson County" by the Birmingham Post-Herald. Smiles played for three years at the University of the South under Coach William C. "Cannon Ball" White. He was a likely candidate for Little All-American honors in his senior year, but he married and did not return to the University.

Sewanee's present director of athletics, Walker Bryant, Jr., said, "Homer Smiles was one of those comparatively rare players on recent Sewanee football teams who was both big enough and tough enough to play football in the Southeastern Conference. All of us at Sewanee are very pleased at this high honor which has been given him for the second time."

Gorgas Guard Seen On Television

The Gorgas Guard of Sewanee Military Academy made a brief but notable television appearance before a national television audience on Saturday, December 30, 1961. The event was the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala. The group of 40 cadets, led by Gorgas Guard Commander, Cadet 1st Lieutenant Whit Walter, arrived on the day preceding the game after practicing all day, the guard appeared at a formal debutante ball where they formed a cordon for the introduction of the season's debutantes.

At the game the following day, the cadets put on a snappy pre-game show which was loudly acclaimed by the capacity audience. The Guard then formed a cordon for the introduction of the players of the Blue-Gray squads.

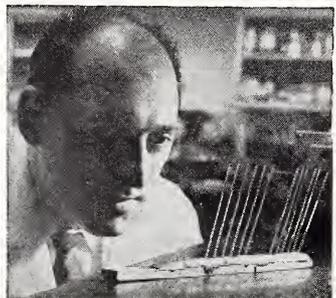

For their final efforts the cadets received two minutes of national television coverage and a great deal of local publicity in Montgomery.

JOURNEY INTO THE UNKNOWN

Space ships have captured the excited interest of millions. Advances in the physical sciences are turning man's everyday world into a wonderland. But the drama of medical science is just as exciting—with fully as many mysteries to solve.

And in medical research the stakes are high—man's health. The wide-ranging National Foundation research program supported by the New March of Dimes gave the world two antipolio vaccines. Now it pursues two other crippling diseases, arthritis and birth defects... confident that YOUR DIMES WILL DO IT AGAIN.

Like the biochemist above, March of Dimes-supported research plunges deeply into that tiny world of the body cells, viruses, chromosomes, molecules, nucleic acid. This is a world where the drama is played on so small a stage only an electron microscope can see the actors and the action.

Each step leads to another, each clue to another, each door unlocked opens onto a new mystery. But gradually the unknown yields to new knowledge. The benefits are yours—and your children's. Your support is needed. SAY "YES" TO THE NEW MARCH OF DIMES.
