Sewanee Housing Problem Arises

By Dale Grimes

A serious housing problem faced students when they returned to the mountain last week. Complaints from many quarters centered around overcrowded conditions and inadequate facilities in some dormitories.

In a conversation with Dean of Students John Webb, the dean minimized some of these complaints. "We think the rooms will hold more occupants than the people living there do. Also, people bring so much more stuff than they used to. This is part of our problem."

Webb did admit that some rooms have been "doubled up", except in the lower floors. "We've put students in places that I'm unhappy about. Nobody should be in wooden buildings," (obviously referring to Selden Hall).

When asked if any students had withdrawn because of the housing conditions, Dean Webb said he was "not aware of anybody leaving. I've heard rumors of threats, but nobody came in to me, Dean Cushman, or Dr. Binnicker."

Dean Webb (who was on sabbatical last semester) said that this was the situation he found when he returned to Sewanee in August, and wasn't sure what had been the cause of the overcrowdedness.

At this time, the Dean's Office is mainly working on getting freshmen out of the Sewanee Inn. Relieving the crowded conditions will be slow in happening since there is no available space. As students drop out during the semester, people making requests for other rooms will be able to move.

As Dean Webb said, "We'll just have to wait for the dust to settle."

When asked if he thought we needed more dormitories, the dean replied, "If we could raise the money, we certainly would, but the cost of borrowing money is so great at this moment that we just can't get the money."

Director of Admissions Al Gooch was able to shed more light on the cause of the housing shortage.

"We had figured on 970 students this year, up 35 from last year," he stated last Thursday. "This would make the dormitories a little crowded, but we could live with that."

"But we had one-third more applications this year than our record last year. If we had held enrollment down to 970, we'd have had to turn down some good people. So we stretched to 980."

In accepting applications, the Admissions Office figures that 60% usually come to Sewanee, so they accept more students than the school will hold. The problem this time according to Gooch, was that "62-63% accepted us".

That is the reason 992 people are presently enrolled at Sewanee.

Gooch thinks that more dorms is not the answer. "Overcrowdedness is a problem in classroom space as well as dormitory space. We cannot increase our enrollment."

The Admissions Office expects to solve the current housing problem by decreasing the size of next year's freshman class. Expecting a total enrollment of 970-980 students in 1973-74, Mr. Gooch said they will probably "shoot for 320 or more likely 300" new students.

Donald Fishburne, WUTS General Manager

WUTS Signs On

WUTS, the University's student-operated radio station, signed on Wednesday, Sept. 6 to begin its first full academic year of broadcasting.

The station, which initially began operation last April, is owned by the University and is managed and operated by students from the College, the School of Theology, and to a lesser extent, the Sewanee Academy.

Primary funding for the station comes from the student activity fees of students in the College and the Seminary. Offices and studios are located in St. Luke's Hall.

WUTS broadcasts with a power of 10 watts at 88.1 on the FM dial.

Hours of operation are from noon until midnight Monday through Thursday, and from noon until 1 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Sunday broadcast hours are from 2 p.m. until midnight.

Current popular music is featured in the afternoons. Two hours of classical music are presented from 4:30 to 6:30 each afternoon, followed by "Newline 88 at Six-Thirty," a complete wrap-up of the days news and sports, as well as a look at the weather. Special shows and news and public affairs presentations follow the news.

Nighttime programming features the more progressive sounds, interrupted only by news headlines on the hour.

There is no commercial advertising.

Specials and news bulletins will pre-empt scheduled programming. Broadcast hours and programming schedules are subject to change, particularly during the next few weeks, according to General Manager Donald Fishburne.

Additional equipment and recorded programs are being ordered to enable the station to better serve the community, Fishburne said.

Key personnel in addition to Fishburne are Dee Woodberry, assistant manager; Pam Miller, administrative assistant; and David Hartling, chief engineer.

David Lundquist is news director with John Price and Jim Stewart reporting news and sports.

Also on the staff at the present time are Tilden Barger, Bob Bartenstein, Bill Coppedge, Willie Dodds, Meredith Preston, Bruce Sampson, Christopher Stoney and Marty Tilson.

Persons interested in working for WUTS should write the station through the S.P.O.

Public service announcements (preferably in writing) may be sent to WUTS through the S.P.O., or to Box 40, Sewanee Post Office, or by phone at 598-5912.

Laundry Fee Optional

By Michelle Mauthé

For all the students who have ever cried over lost buttons or shrunken clothing, the new laundry option holds a plausible solution.

Until this year, approximately 5% of each semester's expenses, or $67.50, was allocated for laundry fees. It included seven changes of shirts, socks and underwear, eight handkerchiefs, one pair of pajamas, three towels, one change of bed linens, and three pairs of washable pants. In excess of this load, a student was required to pay additionally for each article. For the male students, the load would seem sufficient, but the women students were at a disadvantage, as skirts and dresses were excluded, and pants are not allowed for classes or meals.

During the 1971-72 school session, washers and dryers were installed in all of the girls dormitories and some of the boys dorms, but the laundry fee was retained in the mandatory semester expenses.

This year, however, the laundry fee is optional. A student may now pay laundry fee, ranging from $50.00 per semester for male students, to $37.50 for the women students, or he may choose to do his own laundry in the available facilities. The costs are minimal, running $2.25 per washer load and $1.0 for the dryer. Soap powder and bleach are available, as are ironing boards and hanger racks.

Elections Begin Sept. 25

By Julian Bibb

Delegate Assembly elections for both dormitory representatives and at-large seats will be held beginning Mon., Sept. 25, and will continue as long as necessary. Nominations for dormitory representatives should be turned into the proctor of the dormitory with the signatures of ten dormitory residents no later than 10:00 p.m. Wed., Sept. 20. Petitions of nomination for class at-large delegates should be signed by twenty-five members of one's class and turned into the Registrar's office no later than twelve noon Wed., Sept. 20.

The DA is composed of delegates elected from each dormitory, apportioned at a ratio of one delegate to every twenty-five students, with every dormitory having at least one delegate. All students not living in dormitories are represented by the same ratio as other students. Also two delegates are elected at-large from each class.

Joel Pugh To Leave Sewanee for Virginia Church

The Rev. Joel Wilson Pugh, chaplain of Sewanee for six years, will become rector of Falls Church in Falls Church, Va. at the end of the first academic term in December. He will succeed the Rev. J. Hodge Alves, who has served the historic church, founded in 1734, for fourteen years.

The Rev. Daryl Canfill, currently assistant to the Chaplain, will become acting Chaplain for the remainder of the school year.

The chaplaincy of Sewanee is unique since the post is the only administrative office beside that of vice-chancellor which is filled by election of the board of trustees. The board is expected to act in June, 1973, on nominations for the position. Meanwhile, the chaplaincy will be studied as a part of the self-evaluation which the University is conducting over the next two years.

When he first returned to his alma mater as chaplain, Mr. Pugh commented, "The job is what it always has been -- always changing." Under his guidance the requirements for chapel attendance were modified and made more dependent on individual motivation. At the same time additional faculty were added to the department of religion and a full-time assistant to the chaplain was appointed to strengthen pastoral care. A total of seven new teach religion in response to increased demand for the courses.

Mr. Pugh was born in Little Rock, Ark., in 1932, the son of the late Robert Dean Pugh and Mary Louise McLeod Pugh, now Mrs. John Quincy Nash. He was graduated from Sewanee in 1954, winning the Gurry Medal for English. He was president of Kappa Sigma fraternity and of the Pan-Hellenic Council. He was a member of Blue Key, honorary leadership fraternity, and was included in Who's Who in American Colleges.

He received his B.D. from Sewanee's School of Theology in 1957 and then for three years was assistant at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Little Rock. He spent the next three years in postgraduate work at the University of Oxford in England where he served as assistant chaplain for three years and acting chaplain for one at University College, the first American ever to hold a chaplaincy at Oxford.

He is married to the Honorable Caroline Mary Stewart Maud, daughter of the master of University College, Lord Redcliffe-Maud, and Lady Redcliffe-Maud. They have a daughter, Margaret, eighteen months old.

PURPLE Problems

The PURPLE apologizes for this issue being a week late and for too much "old news," but, at the same time, we must plead our innocence. The PURPLE has been beset by problem after problem for the past four months. (And all of last year, too.)

First, we found that the equipment, on which the PURPLE is composed had not yet returned from its summer vacation in Texas, the home of the IBM corporation. The equipment was returned to IBM for the summer in order to avoid paying enormous rental fees during the time the machine was not in use. Estimates as to the expected arrival of the equipment range from last Friday to five weeks from now.

Second, when we walked into our office normally filled with irreplaceable back issues of the PURPLE, we found only four walls -- no back issues. The phantom who lifted the papers remains at large. Happily, a search by Dean Webb and girl wonder Cindy Boatright turned up several antiquated issues.

Third, an indispensable member of the staff temporarily was denied a telephone because of risky credit with South Central Bell in Winchester. Dean Binnicker is currently attempting to persuade the powers that be to allow the staffer to have a telephone.

Fourth, another staff elitist was under suspicion for grand larceny when the PURPLE checkbooks mysteriously disappeared at the beginning of the summer. Fortunately, the staff member was exonerated when conversations with Dean Binnicker and advisor Dr. Herbert Wentz revealed that efforts were only being made to keep out of debtors' prison.

Fifth, we have been directed by the Deans to refrain from using our lights on Thursday nights, due to interference with "the heavenly orbs" as viewed from the astronomy lab on top of the Purple offices. This is reasonable, but now we must close for our candle is flickering low.

Welcome!

The PURPLE welcomes this year's group of new students, who compose the largest and brightest set of entering students in the University's history. With 360 new students a large minority of Sewanee students have never before attended the college. From these students, Sewanee, more than anything, needs involvement -- involvement in the academic world, in the sports world, in the Church, in the community, in student government, and in every other area of life at Sewanee. Apathy is too often the catchword at Sewanee, and this situation must be changed.

Thanks for the Help

The PURPLE thanks Miss Shirley Fann for typing this entire issue and Mr. Tom Lotfi for lending us her services. We also are grateful to Mr. Albert Gooch, who arranged for us to use composing equipment off the mountain. The South Purple, Hustler president, Mr. Ken Woodfield, was kind enough to allow us to spend many hours using his printing equipment.

By TYNDALL HARRIS

The 1972-73 Sewanee Concert series promises to be the "biggest and best ever," according to Dr. W. A. Guenther of the concert committee. Featured among the six concerts by professional artist will be The Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater presentation of Verdi's RIGOLETTO and pianist Gulomar Novas.

The season gets underway on Friday, Oct. 13 with RIGOLETTO. This will be the first time a full opera with orchestra in the pit has ever been performed at Sewanee.

World famous pianist Gulomar Novas will play on Nov. 27. Miss Novas has been a leading lady of world music for two generations. This is her farewell tour before retiring to her native Brazil after playing at the Kennedy Center in December.

On Jan. 21 Robert Noehren will present an organ recital in All Saints' Chapel. Mr. Noehren is in residence at the University of Michigan. He has made at least 35 records and is the only American to win the French Grande Prix du Disque for organ. Not only does Mr. Noehren play the organ, but he has designed and built several organs.

For the folk music enthusiast Martin Best, official guitarist and lutenist for the Royal Shakespeare Co., will be here on Feb. 18. There will be a variety of music from the 11th to the 20th century.

Accompanying Mr. Best will be 2 musicians with a variety of instruments which should make the performance extremely interesting. Another first for Sewanee will occur on March 16 when the prestigious Minnesota Symphony Orchestra presents a concert. Under the direction of Stanislaw Skrowaczewski the Minnesota Orchestra is among the top six or seven orchestras in quality anywhere. This is the first time a major orchestra has ever played here.

Ending the season will be the Cuban Trio's performance on April 5. Katsuh, Sheldon Kurland and Martha McCrory will present major works of chamber music for piano, violin, and cello. Now in its sixth year, the trio is known throughout the Southeast.

The purpose of the Concert Series is to bring a variety of standard great music to Sewanee and to make an attractive cultural community for the University and the area. "Our function is to bring this type of music while others bring other types," states Dr. Guenther. "Many come from Nashville and Chattanooga because our concerts are better than they have at home."

This is the second year the concert committee has been supported by the student activity fee at a cost of about $12.00 per student. This increase in income has consequently resulted in a higher quality of performances. Most performances are on Friday nights and in Gurry Hall. Season and single tickets may be purchased at Gurry Hall one hour before performances or by sending a self-addressed envelope to: Concerts, Sewanee, Tenn. 37375. Students will be admitted by showing their identification.

Whittle: Politics '72

With the nimbleness of a weightlifter and the speed of Henry Ford's first car, the great political machine of George McGovern has begun its game against our President, Richard Nixon. In the opening series of this game the Democrats fumbled, and fumbled, and fumbled -- in such spectacular idiocy that the Republicans could put up another "Harding" and they would still win the election. Anyway, that is how it now appears, though the Democrats have caught an alien sneaking into their huddle. Since then, with a crusading zeal that would make Richard the Lion Hearted proud, the Democrats have been screaming foul. The Republicans are devious, deceitful, and tricky -- they must, therefore, be displaced.

Nixon for his part is quarter backing his team superbly with the excellent blocking of such standouts as number 76 Spiro Agnew; 69 John Mitchell, and the sensation was just switched to the league John Connally. The league backing here has been quick and decisive -- no 100% support behind his teammate(s) from him.

Even without gains in Congress it looks like four more years of Richard Nixon on Pennsylvania Avenue.

360 New Students Arrive

By M.T. Fajardo

Sewane's new students were welcomed by the Orientation Committee Wed., Aug. 30 at the Hospitality Tent in the Quadrangle.

Approximately 360 students and their parents were greeted by representatives of the faculty, student body, and admissions office. Pan Ready, head of the Orientation Committee, and Daryl Canfill, faculty advisor, assisted student volunteers in distributing iced tea, cookies and directions to the newly arrived freshmen and transfer students. Other members of the Orientation Committee consisted of Nancy Guerard, Jeff Hartzler, Tom Hayes, Holly Mason, and John McCadden.

which helped registration Friday go more smoothly.

Pan Ready was pleased with the active interest shown by the number of students who offered to help.

"There were more upperclassmen who signed up to be orientors than ever before," she said. "Every activity was organized by a student orientor - this was to give the freshmen a feeling of being on a one-to-one basis with the returning students."

She continued, "The point of orientation is to orient the students to the social side of life as well as the academic. Admissions Office and the Orientation Committee concentrated on the social aspects, while the Dean's Office and Faculty orientated the students academically.

orientation even more helpful and successful this year. You could tell that the Orientation Committee had put plenty of hard work and time into their plans."

"I wanted to be an orientor because I remember how I felt when I was a freshman, and I wanted to help them feel at ease. I think we did."

Daryl Canfill summed up Orientation with this:

"We don't consider the social side entirely separate from the academic. We are trying to orientate people to this place, and this place is academic. But living here is more than going to class and grades - this is community - this is what we orientate people to."

I don't know where 14 was... but you can join my group.

Dear Roomie...

Dear Jane S.--my roomie-to-be.

I just got word from the Mountain that we are to be roommates this fall and I wanted to write you a letter to tell you a little bit about myself. Whew! Gee, I'm so excited about going to Sewane!!!! I guess since you've already been there a year (they told me in the letter that you would be a BIG sophomore) you're pretty settled about going but I'm really excited. Is the boy-girl ratio really 7:2? Oh, wow!! You'll have to kind of show me around and all, you know. I know I'll feel absolutely lost the first few days!!!!

I sure hope I'll be a groovy roommate for you. We'll have to work out some things I'm sure--you know, when to come in the room at night and when not to. I sure hope you're not grouchy in the morning--I'm in good until I've had my first beer. Do you like to listen to records alot? I do absolutely everything to music. I kinda dig Bobby Sherman and the Okavonds. I hope you do, too.

Courses were offered in the subject areas of biology, classical studies, comparative literature, economics, English, environmental studies, fine arts, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, religion, and sociology.

94 ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL

By Jeff Wilson

"I was very pleased it went so smoothly," says Dr. William T. Cooke of this year's College of Arts and Sciences Summer School, which he directed.

There were 94 students enrolled in the 19 courses offered.

There were two professors from other schools who taught during the summer session. Mrs. Emily MacClachlan and Mr. William Barbee. Mrs. MacClachlan, a professor at the University of Florida, taught a sociology course entitled Quest for Community, and Barbee from Elon College in N.C. taught a preparatory mathematics course, which was directed at freshmen with inadequate mathematical backgrounds.

Courses were offered in the subject areas of biology, classical studies, comparative literature, economics, English, environmental studies, fine arts, history, mathematics, philosophy, political science, religion, and sociology.

Most of the students were rising freshmen and many of them were enrolled as conditional students. In order to return this fall they had to take three courses and maintain a "C" average with no "Fs".

Some other students attended in order to pick up a few extra houses credit.

This was the first year of a two-year appointment for Dr. Cooke as Summer School Director. Any questions concerning next year's program should be directed to him.

The tea just knocked out another freshman....I guess they're just not used to drinking.

The new students began their three day orientation with a meeting in Blackman Auditorium where they were addressed by Vice-Chancellor, J. Jefferson Bennett; Dean of the College, Stephen Puckette; University Chaplain, Joel Pugh; and Director of Admissions, Albert Good.

This year, instead of meeting in Gailor Hall for their first meal, the incoming students met in groups under the trees on St. Lukes lawn. Waiting for them there were the 130 upperclassmen orientors and 50 faculty advisors. The change from Gailor to a picnic-style meal was made so that the students could get acquainted in a more relaxed atmosphere.

Thursday, new students met with their faculty advisors for pre-registration.

The combined efforts of all creates a well-rounded member of the Sewane community."

The Freshmen reaction to orientation was complimentary.

"I really enjoyed the dinner at the professor's home. It made me feel at ease and welcome here."

"I'm glad I went through it because it gave me a chance to meet lots of people I might not have met otherwise."

"I wouldn't ever have made it through registration if I hadn't had my faculty advisor to help me with pre-registration."

The upperclassmen orientors also gave favorable reactions.

"I think the changes - the picnic, the pre-registration, and the tent in the Quad all three days - helped make

Has he really been eating here for 3 years?

Wait! I wanta see if the bells really do play only half that song at half-post.

Phelps, Harper, Anchor Cross Country

By Wayne Allen

Sewanee's cross country prospects for this year have been brightened considerably by a bumper crop of freshman runners. The loss of Martin Flack, Nat Lippett, and Woody Forsythe from last year's 2nd place C.A.C. team could have been disastrous if not for the addition of Bill Emerson, Charles Morgan, David Parker, Steve Smith and Duncan McLaughlin.

Bill Emerson from Silver Spring, Md. had a 4:26 mile to his credit in high school, but his times improve even more with longer distances.

Charles Morgan from Atlanta, Ga. has a best time of 1:56 in the 880 yard dash and a 4:26 in the mile.

David Parker from Chapel Hill, N.C., Steve Smith from Nashville, and Duncan McLaughlin appear to be good prospects, also.

Joining the freshmen in his first year of cross country at Sewanee is sophomore Reese White. He was mainly a quarter miler in high school with a blazing 49.3 personal best.

Returning lettermen are Tom Phelps, Kevin Harper,

Wayne Allen, and Rudy the Dog.

Phelps ran on a tour of Africa for the Wheaton College American Christian Athletic Track Tour. While on this trip he ran his best time ever in the mile with a time of 4:26.

Harper was the number one man on last year's team and holds Sewanee's cross country course record. His best mile time is (you guessed it!) 4:26.

Allen returns to the team after running his best time in the 3 mile last year with a 45:3.

Rudy the dog will also return even though the question of his eligibility is being challenged in front of the N.C.A.A. Eligibility Review Board.

Coach Dennis Meeks will lead the Sewanee thinclads into a season which has very good possibilities for the team. Sewanee should be able to seriously challenge the Washington University team which has never lost the C.A.C. championship. The first meet will be September 27 against Bryan College. It will be held on the Sewanee golf course at 4:00 P.M.

Squad Larger by 50%

Soccer at Sewanee turned out the biggest squad yet this year. The 35 who answered the call of Coach Mac Petty on Clark Field were 50% more than the 23 who came out last year.

Tri-Captains David Mason, Savannah, Georgia, Steve Hogwood, Atlanta, Georgia, and Richard Lambert, Naples, Florida, think they have the potential of beating last year's 4-7-1 record in spite of the loss of star performer Kyle Rote.

"Last year we lacked depth," said Coach Petty. "We could not last through the games in top condition." For instance, we scored the first goal in every game except one - Berry College of Rome, Georgia which blanked us. Of the seven teams that beat us, we led five of them at half-time.

"Our best game last year was against Emory (3-1) which tied Jacksonville University, one of the best teams in the country. We also enjoyed our win over King's College which won the championship of East Tennessee."

Petty pointed out that colleges which have no football teams, as in the case with most of Sewanee's opponents, can funnel a higher percentage of their talent into soccer, whereas Sewanee's football team has a greater appeal than soccer.

There are thirteen returning letter men and sixteen new men among the aspirants. Assistant coach is theological student Chris Mason.

Gridders Reviewed

By Robert Debratdins

Quick now! Who's Jeff Stilwell, Steve Tipps, or Mike Cline? Give 'Up! Don't feel too bad, not until after the Washington University game.

With the leaving of Keith Bell and John Davenport, Coach Shirley Majors' Tigers with 18 returning players will look to more than 30 freshmen and newcomers for a winning season.

With new faces, come new players. Coach Majors plans on using the wishbone offense to get the ball moving. But like all things on the mountain, there is tradition for better or worse, and the Tiger offense is one of the better traditions planned on being kept.

Stilwell and Tipps will add sophomore quarterback John Walters in keeping the offense in the headlines as much as the defense.

Stilwell enters Sewanee after leading his conference in passing one year and taking the No. 2 spot for the '72 season. The Orlando, Fla., standout also holds all his school passing records, not to mention being an all-county selection for two years, joining the all-tri-county last season.

Tipps comes to the mountain from Chattanooga after three seasons of prep ball. The small 165-pounder won't find size a problem bringing his school's 100% award along with him.

"Tipps has the edge on passing, but right now I am not ruling them (Stilwell and Tipps) as starters for this season," commented Coach Majors on the frosh signalcallers.

Cline inherits the defensive back spot vacated by graduated Yogi Anderson in more ways than one. The Gallatin (Tenn.) all-conference star measures up to a 5 feet, 10 inch replica of Anderson and not to mention tipping the scales a bare ten pounds over Yogi's 155.

"Mark is not overpowering, but he hits a good lick at the cornerback slot. The boy is aggressive," explained Coach Majors his new defensive back.

Co-captain Mike Lumpkin will team up this year with a pair of new ends. Mark Harbison and John Uppercro carry their five varsity letters to the line. An added advantage they carry is height. Harbison stands 6 feet, 2 inches while Uppercro has an overshadowing 6 feet, 3 inches.

"They (Harbison and Uppercro) should do real well," added Coach Majors on the frosh duo.

Lining up in the defensive back or end spot is Alan Bruce. The Alabama grider is joined by fellow Alabamian newcomer Judson Williams of Brewton.

Eying to fill John Davenport's defensive line slot is Mark Whitney. Coach Majors said that Whitney has "quickness, agility." Whitney is no newcomer to Tennessee grid action either. Playing at Shelbyville, he was his team's captain and leader, MVP.

So, it seems that new faces in old places will be the trademark for the '73 Tiger griders. That's all.

SSOC Meets Sept. 14

By Tap Menard

The Outing Club is also planning an open house with slides and pictures on September 14 at 7:30 P.M. The open house will be at the E. Q. B. Building. All interested students and residents are invited to attend.

As a special service this year a Bike Shop will be located in the SSOC shed behind the Forestry Building and the University Press. Hours for the Shop will be Monday through Friday in the afternoon. The Bike Shop will provide basic maintenance and repair on all kinds of bikes. Two additional services the shop will provide will be an engraving tool for marking bikes and other personal items, and bike clinics on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

The SSOC new offices and equipment room are located in lower Gailor. The Club's office hours will be from 1-5 Monday through Friday and as posted. The SSOC has available for the student use tents, packs, sleeping bags, cook kits, canteens, sleds, skates, skis and other kinds of outdoor equipment. Also available are canoes, tandem bicycles and mountain climbing equipment. Smith said, "Some of the equipment requires special skills of handling and use so the club, with support of the University, requires on canoes, mountain climbing equipment and a few other items a demonstration of competence in their use."

Instructional classes in canoe and kayak handling and mountain climbing will be offered this year by the club. Schedules for these classes will be posted early in the semester. Smith also noted, "Students should not hesitate to recommend to the SSOC any activity, equipment or instruction they would like to see provided."

Juhan Slates Longer Hours

By Brad Berg

In response to student requests the Athletic Department has arranged to leave its facilities open longer hours for use by the general student body.

Director Walter Bryant explained, "We are here to help the students as much as possible, and it would be ridiculous to lock these facilities if someone should want to use them." In particular new hours will allow students to take a break from studying in the evening and literally "let off some steam".

New hours for the facilities are as follows:

GUERRY TENNIS COURTS Everyday until 10:00 P.M. except during varsity tennis and track practice.

SWIMMING POOL Mon. through Fri. from 2:00 P.M. to 3:00 P.M. Sat. and Sun. 2:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M. Wed. evening from 7:30 P.M. to 9:30 P.M.

SAUNA BATH Women students - anytime during the week before 12:00 noon. (Arrangements can be made through the athletic director for evening use.) Men students - anytime from Noon until 6:00. The Sauna will be open Wed. nights while the pool is open.

BOWLING ALLEYS Mon., Wed., and Fri. from 3:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M.

WEIGHT ROOM Everyday until 6:00 P.M. except 2:00 P.M. to 3:00 P.M. Mon. through Thurs. Although these hours will not suite everyone's desires, if a group should want something else, then arrangements can be made to leave them open as student demand dictates.

Women's IM's

By Wendy Warden

Women's intramural sports will return to the Mountain again this year, but they will be organized in a new way. Individual dorms will not compete against each other, and the teams will be set up on an inter-dorm basis. Two or three teams will be formed from among all the women who sign up for a particular sport.

This year, sports on schedule are volleyball, basketball, soccer, and possibly football.

Interest among women contacted about intramurals ranged from enthusiasm to complete indifference. But sponsors anticipate enough interest to have a well organized program.

Football Squad Youngest In History

The Sewanee football team is anticipating a more successful season than last year as they prepare for their first grid-iron battle against Washington Univ. on Sept. 16th in St. Louis. Practice began on Aug. 23rd. Dale Morton is the captain, and he is assisted by co-captains Philip Elder, a defensive tackle; all-conference Mike Lumpkin, a defensive end; and all-conference Gary Simms, a halfback.

Also, returning this year are twelve players. This is one of the smallest number of returnees in Sewanee's recent football history. As a result, the team is one of the youngest, with thirty freshmen. From all indications, the freshmen seem to be carrying the burden well. There is no question that Sewanee will be at a distinct disadvantage from losing eight powerful lettermen: Jim Booker, John Davenport, Keith Bell, Yogi Anderson, Bob Burwell, David Fox, Wiley Richardson, and Paul Landry.

Alvarez Named Budget Coordinator

Dr. Laurence R. Alvarez has been named coordinator of program and budget planning at Sewanee, according to Dr. J. Jefferson Bennett, vice-chancellor.

Dr. Alvarez is completing a year as administrative intern in a program sponsored by the American Council on Education. He was among 35 university personnel in the entire nation to be selected for the program and has been receiving his on-the-job training at Pomona College in California.

Dr. Alvarez, when he took leave of absence last year, was associate professor of mathematics and director of the summer session of the college. He was born in Jacksonville, Fla., and received his B.A. from Sewanee, his M.A. and Ph.D. from Yale.

Dr. Alvarez, according to Dr. Bennett, will be responsible for coordinating all economic planning and working with the budget and finance officer on long-range planning. He will also provide primary staff support for the steering committee of the self-study program announced this spring and begun with a management survey by Booz, Allen and Hamilton.

Dr. Alvarez fills one of the newly created posts in the vice-chancellor's administrative cabinet. Other members of the eight-man group are the provost, director of development, headmaster of Sewanee Academy, deans of the college and seminary, director of auxiliary services, and treasurer.

Dr. Alvarez will coordinate the preparation of both annual and long-range plans and budgets, providing guidance for the heads of all units responsible for development of plans, integrating them and submitting them to the provost and vice-chancellor for review, approval, and for presentation to the board of regents. He will develop budget guidelines, review budgets, and evaluate results of programs, maintaining necessary oversight and proposing needed action.

Eucharist Group

By MIKE WALSH

The Experimental Eucharist Committee, a new religious group on the Sewanee campus, will continue its unique function this year.

The group assists the Chaplain of the University and plans and performs religious services in All Saints' Chapel. These services are held on Sunday evenings. The members have carried out various trial liturgies in the past, as well as a Greek Orthodox ceremony.

The group will compile a new trial liturgy for the regular Sunday worship service, using portions of several experimental liturgies. Persons interested in joining should contact John Robert, student chairman of the group.

Gailor Redone

By Ginny Ennett

Sewanee students were greeted this year by an entirely new look in Gailor Dining Hall. Jim Samuels, Sags food director, calls the dining facility, designed and decorated by Provost William B. Campbell, "the finest dining hall in any of the seven colleges in which I have been employed".

Campbell said more improvements will be made in Gailor within the next two weeks. Four polished brass chandeliers will be installed, as well as a number of wall burners. Square black fluted columns will be placed behind the present columns.

During Christmas vacation, a hood will be placed over the serving area. The floor will be retiled when time permits.

Plans also call for relandscaping of the area surrounding Gailor, with funds provided by the Burwell family. The driveway will be eliminated and more parking space will be made available at the end of Gailor closest to McCrady. The area in front of Gailor will be grassed and trees and shrubs will be planted. Plans also call for benches and walkways to be installed. Leflowery money will be used for grass and shrubs in the back of Gailor.

No More Pets, Waterbeds

By Ginny Ennett

The Administration has ruled that pets and waterbeds will not be allowed in the dormitories this year. The pet and waterbed problem was under consideration most of last year and aroused a great deal of controversy.

Dean of Men Charles Binnicker said pets created a sanitation problem in the dorms last year. He said some dogs, particularly Bernedoodles, were "absolutely foul".

Binnicker said waterbeds are likely to create damage and discomfort. He pointed out that dorms are not built to withstand the weight of waterbeds. One waterbed weighs more than a grand piano, according to Binnicker.

Mr. Charles Baugh, a communications development representative of the Federal Housing Administration, said, when contacted by the PURPLE, that overloading of waterbeds is also not permitted in multi-story apartment buildings. He said the stress factor can accommodate few waterbeds.

Lines Becomes Theology Dean

The Rev. Stiles Bailey Lines, senior tutor and professor of ecclesiastical history and applied Christianity at Sewanee, has been named interim dean of the School of Theology beginning in September, 1972, according to Dr. J. Jefferson Bennett, vice-chancellor.

Dr. Lines, a graduate of the University in 1935, received his Ph.D. from Columbia in 1960, coming to Sewanee in 1966 after five years as rector of St. Paul's Church in Delray Beach, Fla.

Dr. Lines succeeds the Very Rev. George M. Alexander, dean for 17 years, who moves to an administrative post which will place him in charge of the University's church relations in the 24 Episcopal dioceses from Kentucky and North Carolina to Florida, Texas and Missouri.

Dr. Bennett stated that a search committee already is at work to seek a permanent dean in order that Dr. Lines may return to full time teaching in 1973.

Dr. Lines was born in Savannah in 1913, educated at Sewanee, where he was editor of the student paper, and General Theological Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1937. He has served churches in Shreveport, Virginia Beach, and Camden, S.C., where he was chairman of examining chaplains for the diocese. He was trustee at St. Augustine's College in Raleigh, and at Voochles College in South Carolina and is author of THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH AMONG THE SOUTHERN SLAVES, 1800-1860.

Alexander Named Upper S.C. Bishop

The Very Rev. George M. Alexander, dean of the School of Theology from 1956 until his appointment last spring as director of the University's church relations, has been elected to the bishopric of Upper South Carolina. He will assume the duties of that position on January 1, 1973.

Dr. Alexander is a native of Jacksonville, Fla. and was graduated from both the college and the Seminary at Sewanee. He holds the Master of Sacred Theology degree and also honorary doctorates from Virginia Theological Seminary and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary. He has served as a lecturer at St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, Eng.

Before coming to Sewanee in 1956, Dr. Alexander was rector of Columbia, S.C.'s Parish, the largest parish in the state. He has also served a number of churches in Florida. According to a church source, he has held "almost every diocesan post open to a priest".

Dr. Alexander commented he knew he had been nominated, but had given little thought to the possibility of being elected from a number of worthy candidates. The news of his election came as a great surprise, and was met with mixed emotions by his family, he said. He further explained he will serve in his administrative post for the University during the next few months and will finish the first school term by concentrating his time in the Carolina area.

Dr. J. Jefferson Bennett, Vice-Chancellor of the University, said, "The University community must adjust not only to the personal loss (of Dr. Alexander)... but to an acute dashing of its hopes that he would assume the directorship of the University's church relations history of the University says of him: "In 1956 a dean for all seasons was appointed... He has brought to his office a special grace which an observer from alien ground may perhaps be permitted to say seems to characterize

McGovern Committee Plans Fall Strategy

The Sewanee-for-McGovern Committee held its faculty student organizational meeting on Tuesday, September 5. Enthusiasm was running high to mount an uphill battle to gather support for the Democratic ticket in this area. Bill Yates and Kathy Fordyce were selected student coordinators. Smokey Oates was elected treasurer and Greer Edwards secretary.

A rally with special entertainment was held for October 7 under the direction of Camp, Frances Spaulding and Tica Gibson. Other fundraising projects were discussed and will be announced later.

Another project being arranged is a symposium or debate with the Nixon camp. WUTS has agreed to air this program and final details will appear soon.

Several members of the committee have agreed to write articles for the PURPLE concerning the main issues of this election year. The first of this series will appear next week.

A group is expected to visit the Winchesteer Young Democrats in voter registration and canvassing the valley. The committee will also conduct a student poll, via a dormitory canvass.

"Another meeting was held on Thursday, September 7 to inform students about the campaign. Dorm captains volunteered to provide the necessary organizational structure at the dorm level.

About fifty people signed up to volunteer their time to conduct canvassing and voter registration in the campus and surrounding community. Anybody who missed the meeting and still wants to participate should contact one of the officers or the dorm captain. A list will be announced soon.

The ruins of the KA house

KAs Begin Rebuilding

The Alpha Alpha chapter of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity will begin to rebuild its house within the next couple of weeks, according to Jack Stibbs, president of the fraternity. The fraternity house was completely destroyed in a fire last February.

The cost of the new house will be approximately $70,000. The fraternity was able to collect about $56,000 insurance money. In addition, the goal of an alumni fund drive is to raise $30,000. The fraternity has paid all of its debts to the University.

The architect for the new KA house is James Godwin of Atlanta. Godwin also designed the proposed Bishop's Common. The contractor is Sam Partin of Montegale. Remains of the former house are now being torn down, under the direction of former constable Grover Green.

The new house will be built to look much like the house which burned, although it will be slightly larger. Plans call for the house to be completed in the spring.

Facilities for KA rush will be provided by the University.

Officers of the fraternity, in addition to Stibbs are: Donald Fishburne, vice president; John Salfield, secretary; and Noel Rush, treasurer.

Webb Fills New Post

By Stack Scoville

Dr. John M. Webb has been named Dean of Students and head of the Deans' office, which also includes the Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

Dr. Webb and Dean of Men, Charles Binnicker, will handle men's affairs. Dr. Webb's responsibilities cover non-academic areas, such as housing and counseling concerning military service. As director of housing, Dr. Webb will be in charge of living conditions as well as room assignments.

Dr. Binnicker will handle academic affairs, fraternities, and publications.

Dr. Webb and Dr. Binnicker both will be available for discussion of personal problems.

Dr. Webb said in the past areas of responsibility for the deans has not been clearly defined. He said the new arrangement will avoid confusion, particularly in the area of housing.

Dr. Webb is also a Professor of History. He has been at Sewanee since 1946 and was Dean of Men from 1956 until last semester, which he spent abroad on sabbatical.

New Profs

By Tom Phelps
Six professors have been added to Sewanee's faculty in order to expand the curriculum and handle the increase in student population. In addition, two long term Sewanee stalwarts, Dr. Edward McCrady, the former Vice-Chancellor, and Dr. Stratton Buck, professor emeritus of French, will hold special lecture courses.

Mrs. Mary Jo Wheeler-Smith comes as Sewanee's first Professor of anthropology. She was formerly a part time instructor at the Illinois Institute of Technology. She received her B.A. in social relations from Radcliffe College in 1964 and her M.A. in anthropology in 1967. She served as Fulbright tutor in English at Baring Union Christian College in Batab, Punjab, India. She has done her Ph.D. preparation in rural Rajasthan, India.

Dr. Henrietta Croom will be teaching biology this year. She is a 1962 graduate of the University of North Carolina, where she received her Ph.D. in biochemistry in 1968. Mrs. Croom's husband, Dr. Frederick H. Croom, is a professor of mathematics at Sewanee.

The third addition to the science department is Dr. Lee Eimers who is a visiting lecturer in physics for one semester. He is a member of the faculty of Tennessee Temple College in Chattanooga. He holds a Ph.D. from Syracuse University. With his coming, advanced mechanics has been added to the course list.

Two professors have joined the fine arts department in order to help handle the increasing number of art majors. Dr. Thomas D. Frasier comes to Sewanee's art department from a position as assistant professor of art at Piedmont College. He received his B.S. in design and M.A. in art in 1962, both from the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Ann Marie Kihm will teach art history. She graduated from Kansas

University in 1970 and received her M.A. from Vanderbilt in 1972.

Joining the history department are Mr. Wallace B. Katz and Mr. Lanny Fields. Mr. Katz received his A.B. and M.A. at Columbia University. He has taught at City College in New York and Wesleyan University in Conn. His specialty is the intellectual history of Europe, and he is currently working on his thesis under Dr. Rudolph Binion, a very prominent figure in the study of the history of ideas.

Mr. Fields is a doctoral candidate at the University of Indiana. He received his A.B. from DePauw University and his M.A. from the University of Hawaii. He has taught at the University of Maryland in Bangkok. His chief fields of interest are modern China and Japan and Russian history.

In the absence of Dr. Caldwell the Philosophy Department has acquired Mr. John Beverius, who will teach "Philosophical Ideas in Literature" and "Medieval Philosophy" and the Senior tutorial course. Mr. Beverius graduated from Calvin College in Michigan. He has held teaching positions in several colleges and universities and is known for his papers published in THE AUSTRALIAN JOURNAL OF PHILOSOPHY and THE SOUTHERN JOURNAL OF PHILOSOPHY.

The University is instituting a program whereby students may be in contact with Sewanee's influential minds through informal seminars. Dr. Edward McCrady, former vice-chancellor and president of the University will teach a course on "The Philosophy of Science." It will be offered only this first semester of 1972-73. The second semester he will teach at the College of Charleston.

Dr. Stratton Buck, professor emeritus of French who retired last year will be senior tutor of a seminar on the nineteenth century writer Balzac.

Chapel Seeks Volunteers

By Nancy Cave

Student volunteers are this year needed in three main areas of church work: the acolyte, layreader, and altar guilds. Each activity is directed through the Chaplain's office and is open to both male and female students.

The acolyte guild performs the regular duties of an acolyte. Students are put on a revolving schedule and may serve at their convenience.

The altar guild is composed of Sewanee students working in conjunction with the women of the community. They serve by taking care of the altar linens, polishing brass, and arranging flowers on the altar.

The layreaders guild is responsible for reading the Old Testament lesson and/or epistle in all Services.

Anyone who has had previous experience in any of these areas is welcomed to volunteer his or her services. Also, anyone, who would like to learn about these guilds is invited to join.

Mrs. Cushman Is New Dean

By Susan Burroughs

By an act of the Board of Regents in session this summer Mrs. Mary Sue Cushman of Sewanee was named Dean of Women at the University.

Dean Cushman was graduated from Wellesley College in 1953 with a degree in political science. She did graduate study at Harvard University earning a masters degree in education. For the last two years Mrs. Cushman has served as principal of the Sewanee Public School and previous to that time, she taught for 8 years in Florida.

Mrs. Cushman brings many new ideas to the somewhat tarnished office of Dean of Women. One of her most obvious attributes is her availability to the students. In the last month the Dean has had to handle many old Sewanee problems. She has managed to solve them all with a decisiveness new to Sewanee women students.

The new dean has been taking the advice and counsel of Deans Webb and Binickej on such matters as pets and waterbeds. The new women's dean is in strong agreement with the new pet and waterbed regulations. Mrs. Cushman is concerned with the aspect of dormitory maintenance and is of the opinion that before we can improve facilities, we must first keep our present plant in shape. She cites examples of dorm rooms that bear the odor of soggy plaster and stains of pets' abuse.

Dean Cushman greets many major topics with high regard for the students' opinions. The Dean is all for realizing the desires of co-eds about their organization. She feels the need of a woman's council should be discussed and admits there are times when it is smart to band together, but she regrets not knowing if this organization is really necessary.

Mrs. Cushman takes the same attitude in regard to the coat and tie rule. While admitting that some alumni support hinges on the continuance of the dress code, the dean contents it's "up to the students" whether or not the coat and tie rule stands.

Since coming to the Dean's Office Mrs. Cushman has made one major change of her own. She has abolished freshmen women's rules. The dean feels the 11:30 (1 A.M. on weekends) curfew was not enforceable and the stress should be placed on more important rules and traditions of Sewanee. She also believes that freshmen can manage their time first semester just as well as second semester freshmen or as sophomores.

Dean Cushman feels the upperclasswomen have been very cordial in welcoming to their new dean. She regards their friendliness and openness in their opinions as being most helpful.

Fulbright Scholarship Competition Announced

The Institute of International Education has announced the official opening of the 1973-74 competition for grants for graduate study or research abroad and for professional training in the creative and performing arts.

These grants, whose purpose is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills, are provided under the terms of the Mutual Education and Cultural Exchange Act of 1961 (Fulbright-Hays Act) and by foreign governments, universities and private donors. It is expected that approximately 550 awards to 37 countries will be available for 1973-74.

Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, who will hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for certain specific awards, candidates may not hold the Ph.D. at the time of application.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have a bachelor's degree, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree; candidates in medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Selection is based on the academic and/or professional record of the applicant, the validity and feasibility of his proposed study plan, his language preparation and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates between 20 and 35 years of age who have not had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad.

Application forms and information for students currently enrolled in the college may be obtained from the campus Fulbright Program Adviser G. F. Gudisnie (WE. 207). The deadline for filing applications through the FPA on this campus is October 15.

Rush Rules

The Pan-Hellenic Council has set Mon., Sept. 25 as the opening day of fraternity rush, according to John Milward, president of the Council. Rush will end at 4:30 p.m. on Tues. Oct. 3 when rushes pick up their bids.

The following rush rules will be in effect:

There will be no silent period.

Fraternity men may not go into the freshmen's rooms.

Fraternity houses and yards are off limits to freshmen, except where specified in the rush schedule. Rides on campus are permitted, but rides off campus must be approved by the Dean of Men.

Failure to abide by these rules may result in suspension from rush and a fine to the fraternity involved.

The Pan-Hellenic Council encourages all freshmen to participate in the rush program, since it provides a unique opportunity for freshmen to meet both upperclassmen and members of their own class.

A complete rush schedule and more detailed information about rush will appear in the next PURPLE.

All questions should be directed to John Milward, SPO 595.

Trustees Meet

By Joe Daniel

The annual meeting of the University's Board of Trustees was held in Sewanee, on June 4-6, 1972. The meeting followed commencement exercises. The Chancellor, Bishop Girault M. Jones, presided at the plenary sessions which were held in duPont library. Eighty-six of the 126 member board attended.

The first sessions were devoted to reports given to the trustees by the Vice-Chancellor and other administrative officers who are responsible to the board, such as the Board of Regents, the Deans of the College and Seminary, the Academy Headmaster, the Chaplain, the Director of Athletics, and others. Committee meetings followed, with each trustee serving on one of the committees. Topics ranging from faculty salaries to the community's water system were discussed.

From the committees came several resolutions of interest. A motion was passed authorizing female boarding students at the Academy if the Regents find it feasible to do so. The Committee on the Constitution and Ordinances presented several amendments to the ordinances which were adopted. One of the amendments created the office of the Dean of Students who is to supervise the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women. The Committee on Spiritual and Religious Life discussed the Proctor system in relation to the waning Matron system, but no conclusions were reached.

Financial affairs occupied much of the trustees' attention. Mostly the news was good. The University budget for 1971-1972 was balanced, thanks to the success of the Million Dollar Campaign in attracting unrestricted gift income. However, the University continues to face an aggregate indebtedness of two million dollars. The budget adopted for 1972-1973 totals $7,279,151, which is an increase of about $300,000 over last year. Included in this budget is an allotment of $20,000 for dormitory renovation. The Vice-Chancellor advised the trustees that income over and above the budgeted total will be split between debt retirement and dormitory improvement. Finally, the construction of the new student union will begin during the 1972-1973 academic year and will be completed by the following year.

Many of the trustees will return to the Mountain on Nov. 3-5 for the fall Student-Trustee Weekend. The purpose of the weekend is to acquaint the trustees with the life of the University and to give students a chance to meet the trustees.

Student Fund Distributes Over $600

Sewanee's Student Fund distributed $645.95 to Sewanee civic organizations at the close of the 1971-1972 academic year. The Student Fund is a committee of the Order of Government and the distribution of checks climaxed a year-long campaign for funds among the non-resident students.

Lawrence A. Wilson of Metairie, La., chairman of the Student Fund, presented the checks. $215 went to the Sewanee Youth Center, founded and staffed by University students; $370.95 to the Sewanee PTA; $50 to the Learning Disability Center; and $10 to the Babe Ruth Baseball organization.

"Students here have proven that they assume responsibility while insisting on involvement," said Dr. J. Jefferson Bennett, vice-chancellor of the University. "Needless to say, I am delighted at this evidence of their sense of citizenship."

TRYOUTS

SEPT. 13 AND 14

Purple Masque efforts early this year with a production of THE BEGGAR'S OPERA, a bawdy eighteenth century ballad opera by John Gay. Production will be in cooperation with the Department of Music and the University Choir.

Tryouts and crew call are set for Sept. 13 and 14 with production date planned for Oct. 27, 28, and 29. Male and female actor-singers are needed as well as a large number of background workers. Purple Masque director Robert Wilcox wishes to emphasize that no prior experience is necessary to participate in Sewanee dramatic productions, either in acting or technical work. Those interested should be in the University Auditorium Wednesday and Thursday evenings this week.

Other Purple Masque plans include SLINGSONG, a shorter work by a contemporary playwright, Jim Magnuson, who will be present for the production on Dec. 7, 8, and 9. Tryouts and crew call will be Oct. 30 and 31. Next Spring's works will be PETER PAN by Sir James Barrie and THE CAUCASIAN CHALK CIRCLE by Bertolt Brecht.

Questions concerning Purple Masque activities should be directed to Robert Wilcox in Guttry, room 130.
