Cinema Guild Will Give Film Tuesday

A Spanish film, The Mad Queen, will be the next Cinema Guild picture, and will be shown on Feb. 23. A critical commentary on the film will be given by Shubael T. Beasley, preceding the evening performance, which begins at 8:30. The usual pre-performance refreshments will no longer be served in order that the Guild will be able to present more films to its members. The story of Juana, daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella, The Mad Queen is a very realistic period film of the flashback type.

Mid-Winter Dance Features Nashville Studio Orchestra

Karl Garvin and his orchestra will play for the mid-winter dance, sponsored by the German Club, the dance will be held Saturday night, Feb. 20, in the Ormond Sinkens Gymnasium. Vocalist Dolores Watson will appear with the orchestra. The ten-piece orchestra consists of one trombone, two trumpets, four saxophones and three rhythm instruments. The band's repertoire is made up of special arrangements and has a distinct modern sound, often compared to that of Les Brown. Tickets to the dance may be bought from members of the German Club for $3.50 and $4.50 for couples. Prices at the door will be $4.00 and $5.00.

Korean Student Begins Classes At Sewanee

Andrew Pyong Chol Park, a 21-year-old citizen of the Republic of Korea, began classes at Sewanee last week. He wrote the university first about 14 months ago of his interest in studying medicine for the sake of his poor and disease-ridden people.

Andrew wrote Sewanee's chancellor, Bishop R. Bland Mitchell of Arkansas, on Dec. 8, 1952 that he would like very much to study a liberal arts course at Sewanee before entering medical school, if he could obtain a scholarship. The road to Sewanee for Andrew began in 1950, when he broke out in Korea. Andrew had just entered Seoul National University, where his father is professor of English and Chinese literature, when Communist aggression shattered his ambition to be a scholar and a doctor. He joined the Korean Air Force as a temporal servant and served as an interpreter the speaks Korean, English, Chinese, Japanese, and some German). He would have joined the Air Force officially, he comments, "because of the good turn of events, when the government wanted good Korean students to come back to school again."

In the spring of 1951 the university reopened, this time at Pusan, and about four-fifths of the students returned. In Pusan he met the British Episcopalian minister, the Rev. J. P. Burrough, who came there in September, 1951. Andrew says, "I told him I wanted to go abroad into America to study. He said that he traveled in America in the year 1948 and visited Sewanee and said it was a wonderful college. He had a degree from Oxford and he said Sewanee was an American Oxford. Then I wrote to the university and asked them to please give me the opportunity to study."

Christian belief came into Andrew's family two generations ago. Andrew learned to speak English in high school, where he says it is a required course six hours a week. He has one brother and two sisters currently in high school.

and two brothers studying at Seoul University. Shortly after his first letter arrived in Sewanee, W. Porter Vaw, chairman of Sewanee's Red Cross Chapter who once served with the Red Cross in Korea, started a fund in his behalf. Necessary correspondence between Sewanee and Andrew Park in Korea was often difficult to get through. Carbons of many letters to Andrew from the university were sent to Mr. Burrough, to the Rt. Rev. Arthur E. Chadwell, missionary at the Seoul City Command, to the American Consulate in Seoul, and to the Educational Exchange Service of Washington's Department of State in an effort to get the needed information to the proper place at the right time.

Loss of mail and ensuing passport and visa delays had prevented his hoped-for arrival in September, but contributions toward his education had come from 18 of Sewanee's 22 owning Episcopal dioceses.

The university acted as financial guarantor for Andrew's stay in this country, and finally, on Feb. 3, Andrew left Korea for the first time in his life.

Deadline Set For Draft Test

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1954 should file applications at once for the April 22 administration. Selective Service National Headquarters advised today.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, Mar. 8, 1954. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Sigma Nu Receives Help Week Award

ATOs, Kappa Sigs Get Honorable Mentions

Sigma Nu Fraternity was declared the winner of this year's award for the best Help Week project in a joint announcement by the Sewanee Woman's Club and the Pan-Hellenic Council, co-sponsors of Help Week.

As winners of the award the Sigma Nu get possession of the silver Reverse Bowl for the next year and need to win the award only once more to retain permanent possession of the bowl, having led for first place last year with Phi Delta Theta. According to Mrs. Charles B. Keppeler, president of the Woman's Club, the fraternity that will receive the award three times retires the bowl and a new bowl shall be purchased to replace it. Two other fraternities were named as winners of honorable mention. These were Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Sigma in that order.

Judges for the award were Carl Roberts of Tracy City, Bart Taylor of Cowan, and J. M. Coulson of Montague.

The Sigma Nu's winning project was centered around the University View and the Cross. The Sigma Nu pledges, supervised by George Pope and Sam McAneny, painted the lower portion of the Cross and the sheds that house the spotlight, cleaned up the area, and cleaned the View and the approaches to the Cross.

The pledges of Alpha Tau Omega were supervised in their work by Ned McCrady, Dave Nunnally and Bill Freitas, and did a complete cleaning of St. Mark's Church, including painting the Sunday School room, cleaning and waxing the floors, cleaning up the grounds of the church.

Alpha Kappa had charge of the Kappa Sigma pledges as they labored to improve the appearance of Morgan's Sleep. Their work included cutting away undergrowth, and cutting trees that blocked the view and its approach.

A similar project was that of the Kappa Alpha pledges in their efforts to renovate the Green's View area.

R. B. Clark was in charge of the Help Week pledge of the Phi Gamma Delta pledges as they worked at Ory Parish Church. The pledges cleaned up the grounds of the church, parish hall, and rectory, raking leaves, cutting and burning weeds, and repairing the driveway.

Beta Theta Pi pledges organized and carried out their project with the assistance of Jack Wright. Their project was the cleaning up of the entrances to the domain. The Beta Theta pledges shined the glasses and cleared away trash and brush from the vicinity of the gates.

The pledges of Phi Delta Theta set the pattern for future work to be done on the ravine area between Gallor and Hunter Hills. Their work consisted mainly of clearing out dead trees and removing underbrush and dead limbs.

AF Band Plans Trip

The AF ROTC band and color guard will cover the evening of Feb. 26 for New Orleans, where they will lead the Rex float in the Mardi Gras parade. Traveling by chartered bus, the band will bring in New Orleans the next day to begin the four-day festivities.

In the honor-band position of the Rex Parade, the band will stop at houses along the parade route where Rex will drink toasts to the ex-Kings of Carnival as the band plays "If I Ever I Cease to Love", especially arranged by Sewanee honorary cedit James Sawright.

Adrian Cherry, director of the band and assistant professor of French in the university, has announced that bringing invitations for the Rex Ball have been accepted by the band, and that Brig. Gen. L. Kemper Williams, chairman of the university's Board of Regents has made arrangements for them to attend the ball.

Arrangements have been made by the Rev. Hugh McKee, rector of St. Martin's parish, for the band to be housed in the homes of parishioners. A ban concert for St. Martin's parish is planned.

F. W. Sinclair, Jr., president of the New Orleans Alumni Chapter, has extended the chapter's invitation to the members of the band to attend a dinner at Joe's Restaurant in New Orleans' French Quarter.

The Rex Parade will be held Tuesday, Mar. 2, and the band will return to Sewanee the following day.

Members of the band who will be making the trip are: Adrian Cherry, director; Cadet Major William Frensis, commander; Cadet 1st Lt. Edward McCrady, III, drum major; Cadet 1st Lt. Boone E. Massey and Milton Rice, Jr.; Cadet M. Sgt. Samuel McAneny, III; Cadet 1st Sgt. George Pittenbarger; Cadet 2nd Sgt. William Hunsinger, Jr.; Cadet Airman 1/c Dick Briggs; Cadet Airman Royer Abel, Douglas Bartle, Clayton Eyles, George Chesler, Charles Gladroy, William Hamilton, III, Wayne Hatchett, Baxter Key, Jr., James Nash, Jr., Charles Porter, Owen Quattlebaum and Allen Robert Tomlinson, III. Honor conductors James Brodner, III, Edward Bramitt, Thomas Buttermore, Harry Camp, Edd Cunningham, Jr., Edmund Dugan, Jr., Kenneth Followell, Edward Muller, Robert Parken, James Sawright and Gerald West will also make the trip.

Acolytes' Guild Elects Officers

R. B. Clark, POC senior from Memphis, was elected president of All Saints' Acolytes Guild at their meeting Friday night, Feb. 12, at the chaplain's house. Other elected were: Bill Dowell, ROTC junior, vice-president; George L. Chappell, freshman, secretary and Al Smith, BYP sophomore, treasurer.

Clark has served three years as an acolyte. Dowell and Smith have served two years.

Exposition And Reply

Dear Sir—
 Senator's article in last week's PUMPEE entitled "Our Creeping Militarism" was not only ridiculous, it was untrue. Mr. Quartermaster did not have become an expert on military matters in the course of a half year of ROTC and this fact would seem to speak highly for the program.

The staff member who, according to Mr. Quartermaster, "expressed doubt as to the value of the honor system" has conveniently left school, and I have never been told to remain in the building during an examination in four year college at AF ROTC.

Mr. Quartermaster does not stop there; he goes on to cast doubt on the word of a lieutenant colonel in the United States Air Force, which is a real position for a future Air Force Officer. The new policy of coming to attention when the instructor enters the class room was not Col. Gilliland's idea as Mr. Quartermaster so slyly insinuates but an equipment for all AF ROTC unit in the country. Even this is not important as the regulation governing this policy was written almost word for word by the junior and senior cadets.

For Mr. Quartermaster's information, the cadet group staff is no rubber stamp for anyone, and I would like to know what he means by that statement. The cadet group staff is "by no means of necessity a representative group."

Conversation

(Note: This transcription was recorded in the Union during an examination.)

A. Who is that boy over there? I never saw him before.

C. I've forgotten his name, but he's been here all year.

A. I must have been asleep all semester if he's been here all the time. Does he do anything? C. Darned if I know. I don't think I've ever seen him either.

A. You know, I see some student every day whom I've never seen before. I don't know who they come from or what they do, but they must do something besides go to class.

B. They say this one is real smart; all A's in high school, or something like that. What do you think that got to do with it? Was he out for football?

C. Are you kidding? A. Yes, here it is the end of January, and I just wonder why I never saw him on the campus anywhere.

C. What about that boy sitting next to him.

B. I think you're together.

C. He had have known that boy sitting next to him.

B. They say you, boy can go through Sewanee and never do anything but go to class and chapel.

A. Yes, and he'll graduate and the rest of his life he'll be a Sewanee man.

B. What's wrong with that? He's harmless and he helps the all-men's average.

C. No, but I don't like it to Sewanee just to get A's and not find out about the other things it has to offer.

A. I doubt if he is harmless. Look, he's just as much a part of Sewanee as you are, and unless he contributes something, he detracts.

B. That's not quite true because here at Sewanee there is a place for all kinds of people, and just because this fellow doesn't mean he's representative of Sewanee.

C. I don't know about that. Sure, there's a place for all kinds of people, but if he doesn't fit something to add, I don't see how he can be representative. He doesn't gain anything by this one-way process.

B. You mean that you're setting up a criterion? C. No, but I can't see the criterion already there.

B. That's a good point if you can prove it.

A. It's everywhere, not just here. It seems to me that it is society's recognition of a well-rounded man. One boy has a chance to develop another, so there must be certain natural criteria that people accept as true.

C. And here at Sewanee we are more conscious of this than it is one basis for the liberal arts conception of education.

B. Well, if that's true, then don't all of us, as part of the university, take on the responsibility of seeing that every boy has a chance to develop himself? Doesn't the University itself take on the responsibility of seeing that all its graduates are well-rounded and useful citizens?

C. Not The University must see that the chance for doing so is available to each student, but if he doesn't take advantage of this, it's no one's fault but his own.

B. That takes care of the University, but what about you as an individual? Do you have any responsibility to that boy over there?

A. Only if he is willing to do something himself.

B. What if he doesn't care about all this?

A. I don't know. I just don't know.

I would like to be there when the obviously pampered Mr. Quartermaster attends summer camp (when and if). I am afraid he is in for only "freedom" militarism, it's running militarism. It's too bad Mr. Quartermaster did not live in the 19th century, so he could have raised his own regiment and taken orders from no one.

The danger in Mr. Quartermaster's article is that some persons outside of Sewanee might believe what he has said. The Air Force staff has the same problem of training men to military life. In my opinion, they have not undermined this atmosphere, but for this whole Air Force staff and especially Col. Gilliland deserves a great deal of credit.

In conclusion allow me to say that in four years of reading the PUMPEE, I have never read an article that exhibits so much untrue reporting as the article by Mr. Quartermaster.

Sincerely yours,
 John W. Woods

I readily admit, sir, that there is another side to the argument I presented last week, and that at Sewanee the Air Force is faced with a problem. However, your letter strikes me as being more concerned with a personal attack on me than with the facts of the contrary argument.

Obviously a group of students I voluntarily took three years of army ROTC in high school, and have nothing against the military, but was concerned in the column which you took with its place at Sewanee. My class was asked not to leave Palmetto Hall when we took our exams last semester. It was not my intention to question the veracity of Col. Gilliland.

Liberal Or Reactionary?

In the Feb. 10 issue of Human Events there appeared an article by E. Merrill Root entitled "Mass Hypnosis on the Campus." In this Mr. Root cited a so-called "liberal" hypothesis that has made "the academic mind of today seem literally sonnambulist, moving like a sleep-walker in the dark delusion of an evil dream."

To verify this glittering generality the author gives a statement by President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard "that there is no present member of the Communist Party at Harvard." Yet Dr. Kirtley Mitha of Harvard supported Professor Strunk of M. I. T. to speak in churches in Massachusetts even though one witness swore there was a Party member. Also Harvard Dr. Harold Shapley attended the 1948 World Conference of Intellectuals and the Walker-Astoria "Peace Conference" where certain speakers said things that might be interpreted as anti-American and also might not. Mr. Root goes on to cite a program of the Chicago Roundtable on "What is Communism" where all participants were leftists (not communists). The article continues with examples of the decayed intellectual world in America by four one-sided panel discussions and a foreign (Great Britain) report's analysis of a trip to the Kremlin.

An ingnoramus reading the article would probably either commit suicide or hibernate to the hills to escape the stalling hammer and sickle. Fortunately we are not all so feeble-minded. Mr. Root questions how Dr. Pusey can know so "secret and subtle" a thing as whether all his thousand-some faculty members are Communists or not. I question how Senator McCarthy can make such a statement to a suspected Communist up before his committee that refuge for his name can be found at the Communist heaven of Harvard.

I question how Mr. Root can expect us to believe a "liberal" hypothesis is stifling university thought by citing three professors, five panel discussions and one foreign visitor. I question the authority of Governor Dewey in a Dec. 16 speech to say "the words Truman and Democrat" forever mean "bungling," "lack of courage," and are synonyms on the road to destruction and misrepresentation, when Attorney-General Brownell, formerly Dewey's campaign manager, "has now been forced to admit the untenability of the charges that almost all of the 2,200 Federal employees dismissed by the present Administration as security risks are actually disloyal, espionage agents or Communists, although previously he had conveyed the impression in a speech that those discharged had Communist tendencies."

I question just who is in a hypocritical trance when, in a dissenting opinion, Judge Henry Edgerston of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia pointed out in a certain case that loyalty investigators asked these questions:

"Do you read a good many books?"
 "What books do you read?"
 "How do you explain the fact that you have an album of Paul Robeson records in your home?"

I question the editorial in the PUMPEE last week that the weakest link in the modern resistance to Communism is the American university when the conservative Republican Party proudly claims that the American youth over 21 (college age) elected them to office in 1952.

I am inclined to believe that Mr. Root's hypothesis is not among the intellectual circle of colleges. It is among those that wish to make the world believe it is by magnifying certain questionable (that is, not proven) cases with distortion of the facts to suit their needs. This writer stood for an hour in the Boston Common last summer listening to very pro-leftist labor meetings where leftist literature was distributed. I am not a Communist and never was a Communist. But I would not know why if I did not know what Communism was.

If the academic world is so divergent as Mr. Root would have us believe, we should not blame the intellectuals, but rather we should re-examine the social that is poorly educated in leading citizens that they ignorantly believe the teachings of the Communist Party as it today. Citizens are also ignorant that flock to the hypothesis of Mr. Root, Senator McCarthy and Governor Dewey. Let us think again on the great admonition of Judge Learned Hand and examine ourselves.

"Risk for risk, for myself I had rather take my chance that some traitors will escape detection than spread abroad a spirit of general suspicion and distrust which accepts rumor and gossip in place of undismayed and unlimiting inquiry." I believe that communism is already in process of dissolution where each man begins to eye his neighbor as a possible enemy, where non-conformity with the accepted creed, political as well as religious, is a mark of disaffection; where denunciation, without specification or backing, takes the place of evidence; where orthodox chooses freedom of dissent; where faith in the eventual supremacy of reason has become so timid that we dare not enter our convictions in the open lists to win or lose. Such fears as these are a solvent which can eat out the cement that binds the stones together; they may in the end subject us to a despotism as evil as any that we dread; and they can be allayed only in so far as we refuse to proceed on suspicion, and trust one another until we have tangible ground for mistrust.

The mutual confidence on which all else depends can be maintained only by an open mind and a brave reliance upon free discussion. I do not say that there will not be some who will we may be on a slope which leads down to aboriginal savagery. But this I am sure; if we are to escape, we must not build a foot in the sand of fear, and an honest race, for all ideas."

An Explanation

Because of space limitations, the PUMPEE will postpone until a future date articles on the activities of the Lehigh Youth League, the National Students Association, and other such organizations and their relation to academic freedom and to the Communist Party.

The inclusion of these articles which the PUMPEE feels should be printed in order to reflect more accurately student opinion on various matters necessitates the irregular make-up of this issue and accounts for the lack of an editorial this week.

THE SEWANEE PUMPEE, a member of Associated College Press, is published by the students of the University of the South, Sewanee, every Wednesday except during examination and vacation (approximately 40 issues per semester). The PUMPEE was established in 1914 and is published as second class matter February 18, 1946, at the post office at Sewanee, Tennessee.

Tigers Trounce Centre; Lose To Transylvania

Glenn Schafer Sparks Team On Year's Longest Journey

Sewanee basketball team made their longest trip of the season last week as they traveled to Danville, Kentucky, to play Centre College, and to Lexington to play Transylvania College. The Tigers returned from the trip with an even split, winning the Centre game on Monday night 85-58 and dropping a tough game to Transylvania the next night, 62-56.

Little Joe Alligood continued to spark the Tiger attack as in the Centre game he poured through 23 points to take the high scoring honors for the night, hitting for 17 points in the first half. Glen Schafer and Dick Richards were also outstanding in the game as they scored 21 and 16 points respectively. The purple five jumped out to a 25-17 lead in the first quarter, and were never threatened after that period, increasing their lead in every period.

The next night, Sewanee engaged in a thrilling battle, in which they surged into a seven point lead at the end of the third period, only to be outscored by thirteen points in the last period to lost by six points. The Transylvania team had led by one point at the end of the third period. Glenn Schafer was high scorer for the night with 15 points, and Steve Green was the only other Sewanee player to hit double figures with eleven points. Jim Dezell replaced starter Dick Richards at center in the third period, and poured through nine points in that period to give the Tigers their seven point margin at the end of the quarter, but the big boy cooled off in the final period, and the Transylvania team got hot to win going away.

The team travels to Memphis this weekend to play a return match with Leubeth College and a game with Southwestern University. They have one more game, at home, with Southwestern Saturday night, Feb. 27.

With only one remaining, the first two places in the basketball race are almost certain. Phi Delta Theta with seven wins and no losses and Alpha Tau Omega with seven wins and no losses are the two team leaders. The Phi Delta-ATO game on the last day of the season looks like the show down battle.

The Phi Delt has easy going this past week by scoring impressive victories over the Betas Monday and the Deltas Thursday. The ATOs were hand pressed but managed to win three victories. Monday's games saw the ATOs outscore but not out-hustle a spirited KA team. Thursday the ATOs had to come from behind to defeat a scrappy SAE team which has shown more improvement than any team in the league. Last Sunday, the Alpha Tau's showing championship teamwork and determination came from defeat in the second straight game to behind the high-scoring Sigma Nus.

In third place is the Phi Gamma five who after losing two of their three games have won four consecutive contests. If the Phi Gams defeat the Sigma Nus this week they should have the third place points.

The SAEs, Sigma Nus and KAs are in a close contest for fourth place. The SAEs have won five games while losing only three. The Sigma Nus and KAs have won four and lost three contests and still have games with the league leaders. The SAEs have lost only to the first three teams and should remain in fourth place.

Closing out the league picture are the Betas with two wins and six losses and the Deltas with two wins and seven losses. The Independents and Kappa Sigs have failed to win while dropping six games.

Intramural badminton and handball started last Monday with the single matches preceding the double matches. Barney McCarty, the defending champion, is the favorite in the handball tournament but there are several freshmen who could give him a battle. With tennis players ineligible, the badminton tournament is an open race but the ATOs, Phi Gams, and SAEs will field strong players.

PASSING SHOTS

One often wonders what kind of an impression he makes when he goes to a strange place. Few of us ever really know, but the basketball team learned just what kind of an impression they made on their last week's trip through Kentucky.

From the Gilcher Hotel in Danville, Kentucky, came a letter to the vice-chancellor praising the team's conduct while in Danville. The letter said in part:

"One would never think they are in the hotel, in fact West Point (U. S. Military Academy) cannot boast of a more disciplined group of young men than these players. They are not only a great credit to your fine coach, but bespeak for the University of the South, in a very fine manner. If these young men are representative of Sewanee, then your Faculty should justly feel proud of each one of them."

Back at the first of the year we chose some cheerleaders. We saw them pretty regularly during the football season, but since then they have been making themselves more and more scarce.

Many times they have failed completely to appear for the basketball games and when one or two of them may be there they do little or no cheer leading. Their duties are supposed to be year-around. Presumably good cheering would have more effect on basketball games than on football. For the few remaining home games we hope to see them out leading cheerers.

It is almost spring now—a time when young men's fancies lightly turns to love and baseball. Sewanee men find the library extremely pleasant on warm spring days.

The Athletic Board of Control will meet this Friday afternoon. It is expected that the successor to Coach White, who was dismissed last week, will be decided at the meeting.

The announcement of the decision will probably be made that afternoon. Members of the board declined all comment on who is being considered for the job.

We wish wholeheartedly that the AEC will name Ernie Williamson to succeed Bill White when the board meets this Friday. Williamson has demonstrated his ability, and we have yet to see a coach who commands the respect which Williamson holds from men with whom he has worked.

Pic Of Flicks

 Wednesday, Feb. 17—Southside 1-1000 and Johnny Holiday. Both of these movies are so old that if they were in Technicolor it has worn off. They are both mystery type thrillers with very good plots, as I remember. They should be worth the investment of a few idle hours.

Thursday, Feb. 18—Blueprint for Murder with Joseph Cotten and Jean Peters. "Beware the unseen killer, who stalks his prey with deadly poison leaving a trail of mayhem in his wake." Apparently from the above billboard quotation this isn't a pastoral romance. Joseph Cotten becomes slightly distraught when all of his close relatives start dying off like flies, and begins to suspect foul play. The remainder of the picture should be slightly entertaining to lovers of whodunits and would be fluffacts.

Friday Owl Show, Feb. 19—A Yank in the R. A. F. This old war picture, not to be confused with A Yank in the U. S. A. F., the movie recommended by AF ROTC Detachment 795 to all graduates who are to receive a Certificate of Completion this Spring, should be very entertaining to all students, especially the Aces in the Union Machine Gun Club.

Saturday and Monday, Feb. 20-22—Forever Female with William Holden, Ginger Rogers, Paul Douglas and the exciting new starlet Pat Crowley. This is naturally the story of a Broadway playwright and the troubles met in casting and producing his play. Although the plot is not new the actors do a fine job and turn the movie into solid entertainment. Pat Crowley will especially appeal to the higher type, productive mind of the Sewanee man with her principal quality: sex.

Sunday and Tuesday, Feb. 21-23—Sensoree with Fernando Lamas and Arlene Dahl. This show is done in wretched 3-D, and luckily our theater is not equipped to show it in this medium, therefore we are spared some of the agony of having to sit through it. This is the story of a young doctor who attempts to educate old Savannah to the ways of modern medicine while fighting pirates and the provocative approaches of Arlene Dahl.

Sewanee Woman's Club Presents Plays Tonight

Two one-act plays, Art Is Long, by Mrs. Frederick Whitwell, and Queens of France, by Thornton Wilder, will be presented tonight, at eight o'clock at the Sewanee auditorium by the Sewanee Woman's Club. Admission will be free.

The first play, written by Mrs. Whitwell, is a comedy. Although the scene is laid in a college town, Mrs. Whitwell has stated that the play is not about Sewanee and was written before she came to Sewanee. The setting of the play by Thornton Wilder is New Orleans in the year 1899. The casts of both plays will be composed of members of the Sewanee Woman's Club, except for one part which John Pedlar will play.

The cast of Art Is Long is composed of Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Charles Cheston, Mrs. Abraham Verhoef, Mrs. Charles Baird, Mrs. Robert Jordan, Mrs. Hugh Davidson, Mrs. Bayly Turlington and Mrs. J. T. Thompson. The cast of Queens of France is composed of Mrs. Sarah Harris, Mrs. June Abbott, Miss Barbara Tynes and John Pedlar. Mrs. Harris is also the director.

Mrs. Bayly Turlington is the drama chairman of the Sewanee Woman's Club. The advisory director is Mrs. John Hodges. Mrs. John Pedlar is in charge of properties.

University students and residents of the mountain are cordially invited to attend the performance of these two plays. Immediately following the performance there will be refreshments at the auditorium.

The Aircraft Observer...
 eyes...ears...
 brains...of the Air Force Team!

IN the still of the night—high above a sleeping American city—an unidentified aircraft is spotted. In a matter of seconds a lightning-like jet interceptor takes to the air. Unerringly, with an Aircraft Observer showing the way, the Air Force F-94 Night Fighter speeds to intercept the stranger. The Aircraft Observer is the man behind the pilot—the officer who keeps America's planes flying on course and on target. Without him the Air Force couldn't do its job.

What is the Aircraft Observer?

He's a Radar Officer... employing an all seeing eye that penetrates where human sight fails.

He's an Aircraft Performance Engineer Officer... knowing everything there is to know about his plane... keeping it fit for the skies and ready for action.

He's a Navigation Officer... plotting his plane's course... with an entire crew depending on him for a safe flight.

He's a Bombardment Officer... in full control of the plane over the target area... the Air Force Officer who "lowers the boom" on the enemy.

What the Aircraft Observer gets

He earns over $5,000 a year. His silver Aircraft Observer wings give him prestige and distinction, and he wears the bars of an Air Force Lieutenant. They mark him as the eyes, ears, and brains of America's Number One flying team.

What it takes to be an Aircraft Observer

The Aircraft Observer must be sound of limb, keen of mind, and above all, must have the determination to be the best.

To qualify as an Aircraft Observer you must be single, between 19 and 26½ years old, and a high school graduate. However, it will be better for you and the Air Force if you stay in college and graduate before you apply. Then you, too, can be one of the best... as an Aircraft Observer.
