

Blue Key announces initiates

In the tradition of homecoming activities Seawave's chapter of Blue Key, national honor fraternity, tapped nine students during the homecoming dance.

About halfway through the dance Saturday night, Andy Finlay, president of Blue Key, read out the names of the students chosen for the fall semester. There were five seniors and four juniors chosen for the honor. The new men were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Seniors chosen for the honor fraternity are as follows:

Homecoming festivities include parties, parade, grid victory

by DAVID JOHNSON

The 1958 homecoming, featuring a jazz concert by Bill Justis, a Playboy formal with Dean Hudson, and a 20-0 victory over Centre, came to a close last Sunday.

Homecoming weekend was started with the jazz concert by Bill Justis and his band on Friday afternoon. Gullor Hall vibrated with the music of the originator of Raunchy.

Friday night saw all the fraternities having parties. Although party-hopping was somewhat stifled by the constant rain, the weekend got into full swing.

A gala parade started Saturday's activities. Led by Parade Marshall Kim Honey on the APF-ROTC and SMA combined band, floats and representatives of the various societies.

After having seen the Tigers run up a 13-0 score against Centre, the festive Arcadians watched the half-time show started by the AF-ROTC and SMA combined band, who played "Alma Mater" from a "55" combination.

This show was rivaled by the exhibition by the Highlanders—later joined by Wellingtons and Los Peones—who sang such old favorites as "Lone Lonesome."

Also the homecoming floats were pulled around the football field. The SAE's float with its gullotine busily rechooping off the head of a Cente player went first. Second was the Phi's float with the caption, "Tigers smell de-feet of Centre." Sigma Nu's entry depicting the Kernals as breakfast of Champions won third.

Then the nine candidates for homecoming queen and their escorts were introduced. Miss Anne Gilliland sponsored by Kappa Sigma was presented a bouquet of red roses and was crowned homecoming queen.

Miss Lynn Landrum, Kappa Sigma candidate and Miss Mary Virginia Harrison, ATO entry, were announced as first and second alternates.

Also the results of the House Decoration Contest were announced. For the fifth time recently the Phi Gamma won the trophy. Second was SAE, and ATO was third.

The freshman cake race was postponed until the next home game. The freshmen were relieved of their caps when Seawave won 20-0 over Centre.

The Playboy formal concluded Saturday's activities. Gullor Hall was decorated with Playboy rabbits for the homecoming dance. Anson Mount, college director of Playboy magazine, was a special guest.

At the dance new members of Blue Key were announced, and Miss Susan Frazier was recognized by Green Ribbon Society.

Homecoming weekend was ended with a service (without alarm clocks) in the Gymnasium Chapel.

Evett, from Mt. Pleasant, Mich., as freshman representative to the Honor Council. Evetti is a Kappa Sigma pledge.

The gownsmen elected Kim Honey, Kirkwood, Mo., Parade Marshall for Homecoming. Honey is an SAE and is majoring in economics.

He has served the ATOs as secretary and treasurer.

Tony Gooch, Amarillo, Tex., is a member of OG, and has served as a member of the executive committee. He has been a member of the Purple staff and has served as classes editor of the Cap and Gown. Gooch, who is a Phi Beta Kappa, is also a member of Red Ribbon Society, Debate Council, president of Pi Gamma Mu, has been in Acolytes' Guild, is a Highlander, and has served on the discipline committee. Gooch is treasurer of Kappa Sigma and serves as rush captain. He is a former cheerleader and a Carlide Scholar.

Kim Honey, Kirkwood, Mo., is a member of the executive committee of the Order of Gownsmen. He has served on the Purple as assistant sports editor and was editor of the freshman Purple. Honey is in OKG, Green Ribbon, and French Club. He serves as treasurer of the German Club, secretary of Pi Gamma Mu, president of Highlanders, president of the Cadet Club, and president of Arnold Air Society. He has been on the football team. Honey has served SAE as president, secretary, and rush captain.

Battle Seary, Tuscaloosa, Ala., is in OG, and has held the following offices on the Purple staff: assistant managing editor, managing editor, and at present editor. He has also served on the Cap and Gown. Seary has been a member of the Publications Board, German Club, French Club, band, English-Speaking Union, and has served on the executive committee of the OG. He has been the corresponding secretary.

Tigers down Centre 20-0 in homecoming victory

TIGER END TOMMY MOORE goes into the end zone for Seawave's first touchdown against Centre in last Saturday's homecoming contest.

by STEWART ELLIOTT

Encountering their sternest opposition of the year, Seawave's Tigers ran their unbeaten string to six games as they outscored Centre 20-0 in the homecoming game at Hardee Field.

The game was contested on a very slippery field; and in the final half

Dean reveals petition fate

Dr. Robert S. Lancaster, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, has revealed the fate of the Order of Gownsmen resolution petitioning for either an extended holiday for Thanksgiving or the granting of cut privileges during the Thanksgiving period.

Lancaster stated that since the calendar for the year has already been set, the faculty had no power to revise it. He then stated that the faculty voted on whether or not to grant cut privileges and voted this down overwhelmingly. He also said that if the OG wanted to pass a resolution on future holidays, it would receive careful consideration from the administration.

AF-ROTC cadets make trip to flight school at Bainbridge

A group of 23 ROTC cadets under the direction of Lt. Col. Joseph Powell went to Bainbridge Air Force Base in Bainbridge, Ga., Oct. 16-17.

On Thursday, Oct. 16, the group left Palmetto by bus for Stewart AFB in Murfreesboro, where they boarded a C-123 for a two-and-one-half hour trip to Bainbridge, arriving there in time for a fine meal at the Officer's Club.

After an early reveille and breakfast, the group was taken out to the flight line where they viewed landing procedures. There are no questions left unanswered for the landing pilot. The ground crew will even go so far as to shout up a flare when the pilot has forgotten to lower his landing gear. From here the group went to the link trainer building.

A link trainer is a simulated cockpit with an opaque top. A pilot gets all the controlling effects from a link trainer that he would get from a regular aircraft, but it is itself actually stationary. Ample time was given for each cadet to try one out.

From the link trainer building the group was taken to the parachute building where the cadets were briefed on the types and proper uses of parachutes. Then a demonstration was given in the airing and packing of the chutes. Each parachute is inspected and repacked every six days. There are two shifts of three men each who work full time on this phase alone.

After lunch the group returned to the flight line where each individual cadet was given a chance to go up in a C-123. In this flight each cadet was run through some of the basic acrobatic maneuvers and given a chance to control the plane on his own for a while. Trainees at Bainbridge go through approximately 120 flying hours, which include about 25 hours each on night flying, instrument flying, and aerobatics. After graduation from primary flight training at Bainbridge, a pilot goes to training for the aircraft into which he is to be placed.

At 2:30 the cadets boarded their C-123 and returned to Seawave Friday night.

Eight students win posts in recent campus elections

In recent elections eight students were elected to fill vacant posts in student offices with one run-off to be completed today.

Two seniors were elected to fill the senior places in the Student Vestry. Tom Britt, Winter Garden, Fla., and Dale Sweeney, Fayetteville, Tenn., were the two chosen. Britt is a KA and is majoring in history. Sweeney is an Independent and majors in classes.

Juniors elected to fill seats on the Student Vestry were Bob Gregg, Houston, Tex., and Bob Howland, Scottsboro, Ala. Gregg is a Phi Delta and majors in English. Howland is a chemistry major and a KA.

Charlie Rond, Memphis, Tenn., was the sophomore elected to the Vestry Board in a Delt.

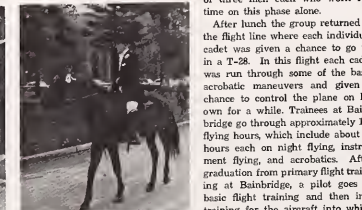

At Purple press time the run-off for the freshman Vestry post between John Griswold and David Knapp was not completed.

John Forehand, who lives in Tampa, Fla., was the junior elected to the Publications Board. Forehand is a KA and majors in economics.

Tiger talk

Stew Elliott

The Tigers were put to a rugged test by Centre last week. The Kentuckians displayed an impressive offense up the middle and most certainly were the best defensive club yet played. Centre halfback David Ray was one of the fastest runners seen on Hardie Field this year.

The Praying Colonels and Sewanee both showed a tendency to gamble on fourth down situations due to their own territory. The longest offensive effort of the day came on a 23-yard run from a fake kick by Centre.

The Tigers gained only 63 yards passing but seemed to be able to complete passes whenever their running attack bogged down. Centre showed a complete reluctance to throw and ended up with no yardage in that turning point.

The game's dramatic post seemed to come at the start of the second half when a combination of a penalty and a long loss when the quarterback was thrown by Gibson, cooled the visitors off as they were moving the ball with some efficiency that had taken them deep into Sewanee ground in the first half.

This week a W&L team which has proved to be somewhat of a disappointment will be trying to atone for a poor season by stopping the Tigers in their homecoming. The Generals were beaten 27-8 by Centre, but they gave Washington University of St. Louis a close score 12-6. Washington is coached by Carl Sweeney who guided the Carolina Tarheels to glory in the days of Charley "Choo Choo" Justice.

Fijis win football; This end second

PGD finished first, PDT second, and ATO and SAE third and fourth respectively as the fog jam that had existed for better part of the intramural football season was blasted as upsets marked the last two weeks of play.

KA and PDT played to a scoreless tie to start this period. On the same day ATO blasted DTD 23-0. PGD walloped the Theologs 27-0, and

Tigers trounce Maryville 46-0

Coach Shirley Majors' Tigers ran their unbeaten streak to five games when they crushed Maryville 46-0 at Hardie Field. Scoring the first time they had the ball, Sewanee went on to maintain its 40-point-per-game average.

Starting from their own 38, the Tigers went 82 yards for the first score as Finlay went over from the two. Frank Mullins got the other two touchdowns of the opening half on dashes of six and 11 yards.

As usual the Tigers scored heavily in the second half. Finlay scored his second of the day from the two to cap a long drive. Jack Daniels then dashed 82 yards down the sidelines with a punt for the fifth touchdown. A thunderous block by Jim Gibson helped spring him.

Frank Mullins weighed in with his third score of the day on a 32-yard dash around end which saw him cut back and leave the Maryville secondary caught on the wrong side of the field. Steve Pendergast scored the final touchdown for Sewanee on a plunge of one yard after a drive which had seen him pick up good yardage. The final points came when end Christie Hopkins tackled the Maryville quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

Sewanee had a scoring pass from Frank Mullins to Steve Pendergast called back because of a holding infraction.

The visitors made it to the Sewanee 35 by means of a fake kick and run, but they didn't have the ground attack that they had shown in the first half.

The final Sewanee score was set up when Tom Moore recovered a fumble on the Centre five. Frank Mullins skirted end to score with less than twenty seconds to go in the game.

The rushing statistics showed Sewanee with a slight edge 194 to 170. In passing the Tigers led 63 to 0, and they had the edge in first downs 16-10.

Wednesday's double torment has Tarzan's Fight for Life and Bad-man's Country. Gordon Scott (the 9th Tarzan since Elmo Lincoln floxed into the role in 1933) co-ops with Eve Brant (who looks as much at home in a tree-house as an AF-ROTC quiz in an explicitness contest) to rescue the chief's son from the witch doctor. Recommended for the young at heart. Bedlam's Country has all the old gaud of the golden west reunited for one of the stupidest flics ever made. Pat Garrett is in peril so he calls on Buffalo Bill Cody, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, and Doc Pardee to clear the menace.

Thursday and Friday has My Man

Godfrey which is almost a viewable comedy. David Niven plays the part of an exiled Austrian diplomat who becomes a butler for June Allyson (billed as "Everyone's sweetheart," and so saccharine she gives everyone heartburn). Niven manages some fine bits of sophisticated comedy, but June never seems to get over her nurse - in - a - muscular-dystrophy ward complex.

The Owl Flic is Mister Roberts, which is now making its fourth trip through Sevanee. It has Henry Fonda and James Cagney, and is highly recommended.

Saturday features Robbery Under Arms, the memory of which the weekend has thankfully obliterated.

As the University recovers from the after effects of its homecoming, SMA prepares to celebrate their homecoming this weekend.

There will also be an alumni meeting in SMA chapel for the election of officers and business at 10:45 a.m. Saturday.

submitted by the AF-ROTC Staff. The advanced cadets chosen for the second rotation period are as follows: Gary Steber, group commander; Paul Gerald, operations officer; Ed Stewart, executive officer; and Dudley Peel, public information officer.

The squadron commanders are also chosen by the cadet staff and commandant of cadets. Those who will hold these positions for the second rotation period are Len Womack, squadron one, and Kim Honey, squadron two.

This is done in accordance with the policy that all cadets during the first semester will have a chance to demonstrate their qualities of leadership, character, and military proficiency in several positions. The man ranking highest in each position will be assigned permanently to that post at the beginning of the second semester.
