Commencement Preparations Finished; Final Schedule of Events Is Announced

By WEBB WALLACE

With commencement less than a month away, the extensive preparations for the 1961 seniors' last party weekend have been completed. As has been widely publicized, the "Weavers" were due to perform in concert on the afternoon of June 3. However, due to a serious illness within the group, they will not be able to appear. In their stead, the Senior Class and the Jazz Society have contracted Pete Seeger, now considered America's greatest folk singer. Seeger, although he has been absent from the group for some time, was the real "heart and soul" of the original "Weavers." He composed most of their music, sang the lead, and was generally considered the backbone of the group in connection with his guitar. In addition, he is also one of the leading banjoists in the country. Seeger will perform in Juhon Gymnasium on Saturday, June 3, at 3:30 p.m. Tickets, which will go on sale soon will cost three dollars.

Fraternity Parties

Most of the parties given this June will be by individual fraternities. Elaborate preparations have been made, and preparations concluded for parties ranging from a beach party with a combo, to a smorgasbord, to two dances with a combo. This diversification will be a welcome change from the standard diet of parties common to ordinary party weekends. In addition, since the parties will all be held at different times, it will be easy for students to go to all or any of the parties without the usual rush found when fraternities give parties at the same time. All the fraternities will hold functions scattered within the three day period from June 2 to June 4.

Dinner Dance

Aside from the Pete Seeger Concert, the highlight of the parties will be the dinner dance in Gallop on Saturday night. Both dinner and dance, for which committee chairman Ed Williamson has obtained Nashville's Owen Bradley, will be open to all Mr. Oates flower arrangements, candlelight, and waiters.

The program is geared for the enjoyment of students, dates, parents, and faculty alike. Aside from the party weekend aspect which the parents will enjoy seeing, there will also be such things as faculty lectures, the dinner dance, and the Vice-Chancellor's buffet, which are set especially for them. It should be clearly understood, however, that everybody is invited to all the activities.

Class Gift

The 1961 seniors are giving the University the first senior class gift for twenty years. The gift will consist entirely of badly needed books for the library, each senior designating where he would like his money to go. The pledges have passed the $2,000 mark, so obviously this will be a substantial gift. Danny Woods is chairman of the Gift Committee.

Acknowledgments

All these plans and preparations have required untold hours of work, especially on the part of Bob Rust, Class President. He, and the Executive Committee of the Senior Class would like to thank the following persons for making this year's Commencement planning a success: The Business Office, especially Mr. Chitty and Gene Smith, for coordinating the whole program, handling the many, many details, giving financial assistance, and making a separate Commencement possible, for which they also deserve the thanks of the whole school; Mr. James Oates, for his tremendous support in the Phi Gam Smorgasbord dinner-dance (no charge for dinner); and Vice-Chancellor's Buffet, Danny Woods, class gift; Ed Williamson, dinner-dance; Dusty Baker. FULTON LEWIS III presented his documentation of the film "Operation Abolition" last Thursday. After the film, he debated its merits with Mr. Dilkes, instructor in History.

Fulton Lewis III Shows Film; 'Operation Abolition' Discussed

"Operation Abolition," a controversial documentary film of the U. S. House of Representatives, was shown to the University community on Thursday night, May 4, 1961, at the United Theatre. Fulton Lewis III, 25 year old graduate of the University of Virginia and director-narrator of the film, presented his documentary supporting evidence and debated the film's "scrupulous" accuracy with Thomas P. Dilkes, College instructor in History.

Mr. Dilkes raised many interesting points which he supported by statements from such organizations as the National Council of Churches. Mr. Dilkes first stated among other contentions that the film was not a fair representation of the actual proceedings in that answers given by certain witnesses were not actually to the questions which the film said they were to. In other words, questions and answers were taken out of their correct order. He asserted that the film took questions from one day and answers from another. Lewis then denied this charge and proved his statements by reading from a transcript of the hearings just exactly what was heard in the film.

Sophomore Class Selects Major Subjects

Although the count is not final it looks as though the economics department leads in the number of majors declared for next year with 27. The department of English may have as many as 26 later, but at present only 17 have definitely declared that major as their choice. The political science students will total 21 but to date only 17 are definite.

The German and fine arts departments have no majors listed yet but Dean Lancaster believes that both will turn up with a small number later on. He mentioned also that although there is some flexibility in the number of majors in each department from year to year, the sophomore class will be a well distributed junior class next year with respect to departments chosen.

Dr. Lancaster commented that in the past the mathematics department has attracted some of Sewanee's most brilliant students, but quietly retired by adding that the Phi Beta Kappas are usually always well interspersed among the various departments and that it is not fair to so generalize.

The departments' majors are listed below in order of size. Those marked with an asterisk are double majors.

'Integrate or Not' Topic For Forum

"To integrate or not to integrate" is one of the topics for discussion during the new Alumni Forum planned during "Phase Three," or the alumni portion of Commencement.

Only thirty minutes will be allocated to the integration discussion, due principally to the tight schedule. Other topics to be discussed at the Forum include University expansion, University finances, the proposed new library, athletics, music, and the admissions policy.

Named to moderate the integration session, scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Friday, June 9, is Stan Burrows, SAG, an alumnus of the Class of 1929, and a former alumni president. "Stan Burrows' reputation for fairness is not exceeded by that of anyone in our alumni group," said Arthur Ben Chitty, alumni secretary.

The discussion will cover the problem of integration at all levels of the University: the seminary, the college, and the academy.

THE HONOR CODE

The HONOR SYSTEM of the University of the South is one of the most hallowed traditions connected with the history of the school. It exemplifies in the highest sense the purposes and ideals of her founders. The Honor System at Sewanee has been in operation since the early 1870's, and since that time has continuously assured a mutual sense of trust, honor, and respect among the student body and faculty.

The System is fostered and administered by the students themselves. The responsibility for its continued success is the moral obligation of each Sewanee man. The administration of the Honor System is vested in a group of representatives duly elected by the student body. This group is known as the Honor Council.

I. THE HONOR CODE

Students of the University subscribe, upon entrance, to an HONOR CODE, which makes possible a community based on mutual trust and makes each student conscious of his responsibility for his own acts. The continued support of the HONOR CODE at Sewanee has meant the protection of the honest student from the unfairness of the occasional wrong-doer.

The HONOR CODE is as follows:

WHEREAS, We, the students of the University of the South, recognizing in the fullest sense the great value of the tradition of Honor handed down to us from the noble days of our Alma Mater, desire to place ourselves on record as determined to uphold this tradition and to maintain that high standard of conduct which it demands; now, therefore be it resolved:

FIRST: That any adequate conception of Honor demands that a man shall not lie or cheat or steal, and shall not break his promises without just cause.

SECOND: That membership in the student body carries with it a peculiar responsibility for punctilious observance of those standards of conduct which govern an honorable man in every walk of life.

THIRD: That, since the integrity of the degrees granted by the University must in large measure depend upon the HONOR CODE, every man in every class must regard himself as particularly bound by his honor not to cheat in any form, and as likewise bound in honor not to fail to report any cheating that comes to his knowledge.

FOURTH: Every student upon his entrance to the University of the South is required to affix his signature to the foregoing HONOR CODE as evidence of his acceptance of the same as binding upon him. Furthermore, this acceptance is the basis of the right to vote on the following resolutions governing the administration of the HONOR SYSTEM.

A. That, as evidence of his good faith, every student write upon every class paper that is to be graded by a professor the following pledge:

I hereby certify that I have neither given nor received aid on this paper.—(Signature)

B. That an HONOR COUNCIL, consisting of two seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman from the College of Arts and Sciences; and one senior, one middle, and one junior from the School of Theology be set up, to which committee all infractions of the CODE above set forth shall be referred for action.

C. That this HONOR COUNCIL be empowered to demand the departure from the University of any person convicted of a violation of the HONOR CODE.

II. THE HONOR COUNCIL

A. COMPOSITION

The HONOR COUNCIL is composed of nine students, six from the College of Arts and Sciences, and three from the School of Theology. The six members from the college are two seniors and two juniors, all of whom are elected at the end of their sophomore year to serve for two years; one sophomore elected at the end of his freshman year to serve for one year; and one freshman elected in the fall of his freshman year to serve for one year. The three members from the School of Theology are one senior and one middle, elected at the end of their junior year to serve for two years, and one junior elected in the fall of his junior year to serve for one year. Every member of the HONOR COUNCIL is elected by his own class.

B. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

During or before the third week in May, the HONOR COUNCIL (old and new members) shall convene for the purpose of electing officers for the following year. The positions involved are those of the Chairman, Vice-chairman, and Secretary. All members, new and old, are eligible to vote.

C. VIOLATIONS

All violations of the HONOR CODE are presented to the HONOR COUNCIL. If the HONOR COUNCIL determines that a student has violated the HONOR CODE, it recommends his dismissal from the College or Seminary to the Vice-Chancellor, through the respective Dean of that School.

D. GENERAL

1. It will be the responsibility of the COUNCIL to maintain the placards placed in all dormitories and academic buildings on the campus that bear the inscription:

"Any conception of Honor demands that a man shall not lie, cheat, or steal, and shall not break his promises without just cause."

2. Procedure applying to New Students' orientation of HONOR SYSTEM and signing of the HONOR CODE:

a. College

(1) On a designated night during the freshman and transfer students' orientation week, the Chairman of the HONOR COUNCIL, with all the members of the COUNCIL present, shall present a comprehensive address on the meaning and characteristics of the CODE to the incoming Junior Class and all transfer students. After this address has been made and the CODE read in its entirety, the students will be permitted to ask questions, and shall then be required to affix their signatures to the CODE.

b. Seminary

(1) On a designated night during the first week of the Fall Term, the Senior Theological member of the HONOR COUNCIL shall present a comprehensive address on the meaning and characteristics of the CODE to the incoming Junior Class and all transfer students. After this address has been made, and the CODE read in its entirety, the two members of the COUNCIL from the Theological School will open the floor to questions. Students shall then be required to affix their signatures to the CODE.

3. Procedure applying to yearly meeting with the faculties.

a. College

(1) The Chairman of the HONOR COUNCIL will make an address to the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences at their first regular meeting of each academic year. He should explain what the COUNCIL expects from the faculty in respect to HONOR COUNCIL procedures.

b. Seminary

(1) The Senior member from the School of Theology shall address the faculty of the Seminary at their first regularly scheduled meeting in like manner.

4. Procedure applying to reading of the CODE each semester.

a. The Chairman of the HONOR COUNCIL shall read the reading of the HONOR CODE once each semester in the University Chapel for College students only.

5. The PEOPLE will be requested to print the code in its entirety in either the first or second issue prior to final semester examinations.

III. FUNCTIONS AND PROCEDURES PERTAINING TO THE SECRETARY, OPERATION OF THE HONOR COUNCIL

The following methods of procedure have been adopted by the HONOR COUNCIL from time to time, and constitute the "Standard Operating Procedure" to be followed without exception, unless said article is amended or repealed by the HONOR COUNCIL.

A. VIOLATIONS

1. Any student observing a violation of the HONOR CODE should report said violation to a member of the HONOR COUNCIL within forty-eight (48) hours after the violation has occurred.

a. Any information withheld from the COUNCIL's knowledge by the observer of the violation over forty-eight hours is to be considered irrelevant and immaterial.

b. Any factual evidence presented by submitted exam papers is to be considered valid regardless of the time elapsed after the offense.

c. In Reference to Article I, third Section: "... and as likewise bound in Honor not to fail to report any cheating that comes to his knowledge."—The COUNCIL interprets this to mean that a student who fails to report a violation to which he was a witness has himself violated the CODE.

B. EXAMINATION AND TESTING PROCEDURE

1. Responsibilities of faculty members.

a. No quiz or examination will be proctored by any professor or instructor.

b. The PLEDGE, written in full, is required on all final examinations, and when the professor or instructor so desires, on daily quizzes.

(1) The PLEDGE must be accompanied by the student's signature.

(2) The abbreviation "PLEDGE" is acceptable on tests other than final examinations, but it is suggested that the professor or instructor make it clear to the class from time to time that the abbreviation carries the full meaning and significance of the complete pledge.

(3) The abbreviated form MUST ALSO BE ACCOMPANIED by the signature of the student.

a. Permission will not be given to students to take final examinations in places other than the regularly designated place for the examination.

(1) Exceptions

(a) In extenuating or unique circumstances occur, it is up to the discretion of the professor or instructor as to whether the student shall be allowed to take the examination.

(b) In the School of Theology, it is left to the discretion of the Professor to designate whether final examinations may be taken in places other than in the regular classroom.

2. Responsibilities of Students

a. There shall be no talking, conversation, undue noise, or other disturbances among students during any test or examination when the professor or instructor is out of the classroom.

b. On the day of a test or examination, no student shall refer to notes or a textbook upon entering the classroom, regardless of whether the test is on the blackboard, or is in the process of being put on the blackboard.

(1) Exception: Open-book quiz.

Open Letter

It was carnival time in the valley last week, and as a result, many of the students of the University of the South has suffered a great blow.

I was preparing to spend a quiet evening at the flick when two acquaintances kidnaped me, and off we went to the midway.

My captors and I wandered past various gambling games joking about the poor people who had fallen into the hands of these thieves.

Soon, despite my vehement protest, my captors steered me into a tent. There we witnessed a show of human depravity without equal. It shocked me to think that we, Sewanee Gentlemen in good standing, had come to this level. I wanted to hide, but someone should recognize us as students of the University; however, when I looked around, I discovered there was no one to hide from—all the spectators were from the Mountain.

I was disillusioned. I refused to believe that my fellow students could patronize such a place. Why these couldn't be Sewanee Gentlemen.

Once outside, we began to stroll towards the front gate. At our right, we noticed a large group gathered around a booth. I caught the phrase, "... look, man, now you win eighty dollars if you get just one more point. Give me your five dollars; this one might be your winner." I laughed to myself and then looked to see who the poor fellow was. I felt sick; a sophomore intellectual was asking a friend for money, muttering in a defeated voice, "I's got to stop at this time... it has to!"

How could this happen? Why Dr. McCredy told me himself that all Sewanee students were gentlemen and scholars.

Someone please restore my faith... tell me Sewanee students are gentlemen.

Coat and Tie Rules Questioned

The Order of Governors thumbed its nose recently at the proposal of a comprehensive rewriting of the esteemed coat and tie rule, with little more than a second thought, and certainly little examination of the provisions, some of which obviously would never have passed.

Since these proposals were voted down, it is apparent that (1) the new rules suggested were not appropriate and (2) the old rules which were retained in the proposal, but not so clearly specified—if at all—in the present rule, were also rejected.

Thus it is clear that anyone who goes into the Union after dinner without a coat and tie is violating the rule. This was clearly indicated by the O.G.'s refusal to insert the phrase "and after 9 p.m." into the rule allowing us to remove our coats and ties in the afternoon. This motion was voted down 64 to 69 (1) after a very questionable vote. So it is obvious that many people are not going to be happy about having to wear their coats at night in the Union, especially with hot weather approaching rapidly.

The rule now states that there are only four times when the coat and tie can be removed by a student: by sports parties, formal dinners, ROTC cadets in uniform, and persons in the Union in the afternoon. That's all! Obviously this is not a comprehensive statement of the rule as it does exist.

I was assisted in the meeting that the new rules ought to do three things. First, make the rule comprehensive. Let it state what the rule is and what is not for everyone to see. Second, to be so clear, even to have "a firm grasp on the obvious," so as to help guide entering freshmen. And finally, to propose three changes.

One change was to permit "cravats" as ties at meals and movies. This was not recommended by the committee. The second was to outlaw sport shirts, as being untraditional. (Although few, if any, in the meeting wore sport shirts, it was apparent that his was not the most popular part of the new rules proposal.) The third change was that the coat and tie rule would not be in force during the summer school session, which might have been unnecessary, at least for those who have spent any time on the mountains. The summer could possibly oppose such a rule.

If these changes were all that was wrong with the proposal, it is somewhat pointless to condemn the whole thing outright. Of course, the necessary rule change was passed subsequently, too. But why change the old rule if the new changes were not acceptable? Would it have been an improvement over the old rule?

The first, and the major rule of the proposal, allowed us to wear our coats and ties and tie did not need to be worn, the following, not already mentioned: "in the supply store after lunch," which is surely as sound as the rule concerning the Union; which is frankly "harmless" and as is the case with the Union, while going to or from them; "by students studying in Science and Walsh-Eliott Halls" and "to the Owl Flick," both quite superfluous and of limited value to freshmen, except that they read the rule and were coming to Sewanee, too. Obviously no one could object to these on the grounds that they are not our tradition.

A second rule said, in effect, "coats may be removed from the library at any time and in warm weather they may be removed in class and, after lunch, outside also." As for removing coats outside after lunch, many people do this, and some say it is illegal. It is illegal. But it is also traditional and should be made legal on one.

While in class we remove our coats "the professor does not mind." Few mind. But it is because the rule does not permit us to do this that prompts others to mind. The idea that everyone can take off the coat means everyone will, is far-fetched and assumes we are all just looking for a chance to "ditch" one more tradition. I have a majority of us wanting to "ditch" these rules, but not. But we don't.

Although the provision about cravats was unnecessary, the one about sport shirts was a good one. Why? Because some people detest the wearing of them with the coat and tie, though others may not. If we wear loud sport shirts, what is the reason for a coat and tie rule? Because so few people wear them, it is apparent that this is the consensus of opinion.

How are we now? Because we rejected putting these measures into the written rules, and because the D. C. goes by the book, we may have cut our own collective throat.

Is the D. C. to assume we can no longer go to the Union at night with our coats off to our fraternity houses? to the Supply Store? Obviously, we will continue to take them off while studying in Walsh-Eliott and Science. But what about taking off coats outside in the (warm) afternoon? Not at all.

How will the D. C. act now? Just how "by the book" will they go? Well, if the proposed rules had been discussed and inspected carefully, then given an honest vote, we all would know, including the D. C. What now, though? Better leave your coat on!

Purple Masque To Give Reading

Dylan Thomas's Under Milk Wood, a "play for voices" originally written for radio production, will be presented by Purple Masque as a reading on Friday night at 8:00 p.m. in St. Luke's Auditorium. Students, faculty members, and residents will be participants in the reading.

All of Thomas's work contains a massive emotional directness derived from his poetic, bohemian, and extremely gregarious life. A Welshman, Thomas became, early in his life, a well-known poet. His untimely death occurred in New York in 1953 in his thirty-ninth year.

Seeger To Appear During Graduation

Pete Seeger, a leading American folk singer, is scheduled to appear at Sewanee for a concert during the Commencement Season this year. His Saturday afternoon appearance was planned by the Sewanee Jazz Society and the Class of 1961. Admission price is to be $3.00 per ticket.

Seeger, the original driving force and leader of the Weavers group (but now separated from them), has achieved wide popularity in this country. In New York, before he began his recent tour, customers were lined up for blocks to see and hear the slender singer, alone on the stage but for his banjo. The concert is tentatively scheduled for the Julian Gymnasium.

1961-2 Proctors Are Announced

On May 4, next year's proctors for each of the dormitories were elected by the outgoing proctors.

Those chosen were Phillip George—Head Proctor, Joe Brittain, Sparky Edgin, Roy Flynn, Hank Haynes, Frank Kinnett, Tom Myers, Tom Moore, Frank Pinsky, Bill Shasteen, Taylor Wray, and Fred Wunderlich.

At time of publication, the various dorm assignments were not available.

Civic Association Creates Civil Defense Committee

The Sewanee Civic Association voted into existence at its monthly meeting on May 1, a community Civil Defense Steering Committee, which in turn will work with subordinate committees in preparing a comprehensive Civil Defense Plan for Sewanee.

Preliminary planning has been under the direction of Capt. Raymond E. Phares, SMA. Captain Phares addressed the April meeting of the Civic Association and pointed out that while Sewanee is not in imminent danger from the blast effects from a nuclear attack, a very real danger does exist from the radioactive fallout from more distant targets. He pointed out that numerous surrounding caves provide excellent natural shelter from the fall-out, and that one of the greatest problems for the Sewanee community would be the orderly transfer of residents of the Sewanee community and, during the school year, approximately 1,000 students from the University, SMA, St. Mary's and St. Andrew's to the caves within the one hour following a nuclear attack which he estimated to be the minimum time period before radioactive fallout level reached dangerous proportions.

Problems in logistics remain to be solved such as transportation, communication, and the amount of food needed to sustain a large number of students who could not normally be expected to have on hand a two week supply of food and other survival necessities. All residents will be encouraged to have their own survival supplies.

Several committees were named to assist in the formulation of the overall plan. The Medical Committee is composed of Drs. Keppeler and Betty Kirby-Smith, Henry Kirby-Smith, Ruth Cameron, Mrs. Maria Webb, Mrs. Paul Edwards, and Mrs. Campbell.

The Food Supply and Food Transportation Committee is composed of Mr. Oates, Gordon Hamilton, Father Simmons, a representative from St. Mary's, a representative from St. Mark's, Mrs. Bertha Graves, a representative from the public school, Leavelle Yates, and Mrs. Joan Baird.

The Evacuation Committee is composed of Chief McBee, Capt. Phares, Capt. Gooley, Major Murray, Sgt. Keeling, Dr. Owen, Dean Webb, Major Canham, and others.

The Site Committee will investigate and select a suitable location. Possible sites that have been suggested include Wonder Cave near Montague and the limestone cave near Sherwood. Capt. Phares, Chief McBee, Mr. Hamilton, Arthur Nimitz, Ben Cameron, Mr. Hankins, Mr. Wynn, Dr. Bruton compose this committee.

The Information Committee, which is charged with the preparation and dissemination of the final plan, which is tentatively planned for completion in early fall, is composed of Arthur Chitby, Gene Smith, Bob Haro, Ralph Caslieberry, Mrs. Goodstein, Mrs. Cornelius, Mrs. Baird, Capt. Thomas, Col. Wynn, and Mrs. Chapman.

The overall Civil Defense Steering Committee is composed of Chief McBee, Mr. Nimitz, Major Murray, Capt. Phares, Douglas Vaughan, and ex-officio members, Dr. McCurdy and Civic Association President Col. Moore.

Sewanee Wins TIAC Tennis First; First Championship In Five Years

Sewanee's tennis team, which finished the regular schedule with a 13-2 won-loss record, climaxed its season this past weekend here by winning the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference crown.

The Tigers scored 20 points in the two day meet to walk off with the championship, its first in five years. The team was followed by Southwestern with 15 points, Chattanooga with 12, David Lipscomb with 2 and Tennessee Wesleyan 0.

Phil George won the number one singles title. Felix Pelzer took the fifth division title and John Bondurant took the sixth division honors.

In other individual competition for the Tigers, Ed Hatch was runner-up in the second division singles. John Bondurant took the sixth division honors while John Bass was runner-up in the fourth division.

In doubles competition, the team of George and Hatch was an unbeatable combination. The two topped the Southwestern duo, 6-0, 6-1, to take the number one Tennessee doubles title.

In the third division, Bass and Bondurant were successful, coping honors with a 6-1, 6-3, match over a Chattanooga team.

Winning the TIAC titles was no new thing for a couple of Sewanee performers.

George took the title last year, as did the doubles team of George and Hatch. Backed by a set of young, competent performers, the twosome led Sewanee to a championship this year.

Tiger Talk

By BARNEY HAYNES

The 1961 season proved to be a tremendous year for Dr. Gaston Bruton and his tennis team.

Tiger netmen blazed a winning path through a tough 15 match schedule. Sewanee performers won 12 matches while losing only to the University of Georgia, Presbyterian College, and Wheaton College.

The team defeated such teams as Emory, Clemson, Southwestern, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, College of Charleston, and David Lipscomb.

The squad put the crowing touch to a successful season this past weekend by winning the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship. Phil George, captain of the squad, won the number one singles title. In regular competition, the top notch netman won 10 of his matches while losing only 3.

The doubles team of George and Ed Hatch also took top honors in the regular matches during the season, the duo dominated all but two matches.

The number three doubles team of John Bondurant, Felix Pelzer, and Stan Marks, are eligible to compete next year.

Tennis is definitely on the upswing at the University.

All of Dr. Bruton's seven man squad, composed of George, Hatch, Bass, Bondurant, Frank Robson, Felix Pelzer, and Stan Marks, are eligible to compete next year.

George, a junior, is the only upper classman.

Hatch, Robson, Bass, and Marks are sophomores while Bondurant and Pelzer are freshmen.

It is interesting to note that last year's tennis team, of which five of Sewanee's present performers were members, was able to win only three matches last year while losing seven. It placed third in the TIAC.

Much of the success of the present season can be attributed to the hard-work experience gained last year against teams like the University of Cincinnati and Western Michigan.

There are several other factors which add up to make a winning season.

Much more emphasis was placed on tennis this year than last. Dean Bruton took complete command of the squad this year and saw to it that his boys got all the supervision and practice they needed.

Too, the Tigers played a much more extensive schedule, facing 15 opponents. At one time, the squad journeyed deep into Georgia and South Carolina, facing 5 opponents on the trip.

And in tallying up the causes for success, one certainly can't overlook the top performances turned in by Tiger netmen.

In individual competition, the season's results point up this fact. George won 10 while losing only 5 matches. Hatch scored 12 victories to only 3 defeats. Robson had an 8-7 won-loss record. Bass won 6 out of 7. Pelzer posted 10 victories as opposed to only 4 losses. Bondurant won 8 while losing 4. Marks had a 2-3 record.

In the doubles division, George-Hatch won 13, losing 2. Robson-Pelzer set a pace of 10 victories and 5 defeats. Bass-Bondurant had a 10-2 record. Bondurant-Marks were 1-1. Bass-Marks had a 0-3 mark.

Totalling all matches for the year, the Tigers won 91 matches while dropping only 44.

1961 Sewanee Track Team

TIAC Track Meet Held At Sewanee

Sewanee played host to the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Track Meet this past weekend.

Middle Tennessee State College accrued 63 points to lead a field of eight colleges and universities.

Sewanee's fifteenth scored 24½ points to take a field place behind Murfreesboro, Tennessee Tech, Austin Peay, and Southwestern.

Several Tiger performers finished high in the standings, but none was able to do down a first at second place. In a fast 9.9 second 100 yard dash, Larry Majors finished third.

Dave Barr took a third place in the 200 yard dash.

In field events, James Dewar placed tie for third in the pole vault with a vault of 116" while M. L. Agnew threw the discus 130'7" to cop a third position.

Sewanee's mile relay team finished third also behind Tennessee Tech and MTSC.

Tigers Defeat Lambuth 2-1; Lose To MTSC And Belmont

Tiger diamondmen kicked the week off successfully last Tuesday with a 2-1 victory over Lambuth College here.

However, the going proved to be rougher on the road Wednesday and Friday as the team was edged out twice. In Murfreesboro, Middle Tennessee squeaked by with a 3-2 victory and in Nashville two days later, Belmont College shut out the Tigers 1-0.

In the Lambuth win, the big bat of Larry Yarnell, cut up batter and first baseman, was the difference in the game.

Varnell blasted his fourth home run of the year in the sixth inning, driving Larry Chandler, who was on base on a fielder's choice.

The big knock was the only extra-base hit of the day for the Tigers. Wallace Pinkley and Jackie Bismal each singled to account for the rest of Sewanee's plate performance.

Up until the homer, Sewanee lagged behind Lambuth 1-0. Two doubles in the top of the sixth gave Lambuth a short-lived lead.

Winnning pitcher for the Tigers was Munal who gave up only four hits, walking just three.

Undeclared PGD Holds First Four Teams After Top Places

In a week of many makeup games and much confusion, PGD just about sewed up first place. The big question now is the scramble for second, third, and fourth. Four teams are almost even now and any of them could come out on top.

The Independents picked up easy victories over ATO and DTD last week to climb to second place. They are solid down the middle, with great pitching, but have several weaknesses which could hurt them later on. Kappa Sig jumped to third by taking a close game with PDT. The Phi led most of the way, but let in four unearned runs late in the game to give KS the victory.

BTP, tied with KA for fourth place, seems a good bet for second if it goes to a play-off. The Betas have defeated the Independents and the Kappa Sig's, while losing to the Phi Gamers and to the Deltas in an upset. They beat the ATO's last week and will face KA and PDT next week in two very crucial games.

KA has cooled off considerably since their great start. They didn't play last week and are now pretty much an unknown factor in the race. If they can regain their early season form they will probably finish second. If they don't get fired up they will be lucky to place. The Phi are just about out of it now after their loss to the Kappa Sig's Sunday. They will win more games, but shouldn't make the top four.

Thursday and Friday: Returns of Don Cassillo.

This is a sequel to the 1953 Little World of Don Cassillo, and furthers the same slapstick progression of the priest Fernandez's run-ins with the Communist mayor Gino Corvi. It is definitely not the achievement of the original. There is no plot, but some of the sequences are funny and perhaps even significant, but most are merely dull.

Old Flick Friday: The Gazebo.
This is a right good comedy of situation. Glenn Ford is a TV showbiz writer who, almost accidentally, kills a blackmailer one night, and then has unbelievable difficulties in getting rid of the corpse. In this process he discovers that the man he shot was not even the blackmailer, and a second episode begins with Ford trying to find out who the victim was. All this is complicated by the innocent bugging of his wife, Debbie Reynolds.

Saturday and Monday: The Sandlotter.

The plot of this film is insignificant, but the setting (Australia) brings forth some wonderful scenes and photography under the masterful hand of Fred Zimmerman (who gave us The Yaw's Story). Robert Mitchum and Deborah Kerr are migrant sheep workers who are faced with the problem of the nomadic (Sunderland) life versus the settled life. The setting is adequate, but it is the photography—in spite of some unlikelihood and imperfections—that gives this flick a good rating.

Sunday and Tuesday: Cas-Cas.
Nikita Khrushchev gave this film some publicity by pronouncing it "immoral" after seeing a scene while in Hollywood. But he was wrong. The picture does not warrant any judgment except "dull."

Shirley McLaine hires attorney Frank Sinatra to defend her before Maurice Chevalier, a judge who prefers to judge as little as possible. Then enters a stern judge, Louis Jourdan. Pretty soon everybody is in love with everybody else, and this leads to everybody's fighting everybody else.

The direction seems to be mainly at fault, for this cast should be able to carry almost any film off. But not even Shirley McLaine gets any praise in this one. Besides this, old Cole Porter songs are substituted for the ones used in the Broadway play, and these are not only out of place here, but are also sudy bad.

Sewanee History

By HARWOOD KOPPEL

The Confederate Army-commander of Trans-Mississippi, Gen. Kirby-Smith, who was the last of the Confederate Commanders to surrender, became Professor of Pure Mathematics at Sewanee after the Civil War. Many stories are told about the wit and wisdom that he gave to his classes. It is said that one day after "The General" had dismissed class, and had placed his glasses far back on his head, and was resting after a tremeous round with a lady class, that he approached by one of his students, who thus addressed him:

"General, would you mind giving me some personal recollections of the War of the Rebellion?"

The General was on his feet in an instant, his eyes blazing. "Rebellion! Sir, Rebellion! There was no Rebellion. Where are you from?"

When the student replied, "Massachusetts, Sir," the General's manner changed.

"Oh, that's all right. They don't know any better up there. That's the good-natured old gentleman proceeds to give him some delightful anecdotes of his own war experiences.

The General had two favorite dogs, named in reference to persons, living or dead) and "Dick," which were privileged members of every class he taught. They would occupy the choicest place around the stove, stretching out at full length and blocking all comers. Sometimes when a student had made a particularly bad mess of his problem, the old general would snap his fingers, the dogs would come, and would give the dogs an order to correct his problem. Looking at the unfortunate and unprepared student with a fly twinkle in his eye, General Kirby-Smith would say: "Rub it out. Even Ned knows it's wrong and wants you to erase it."

Departments Stop Graduation Parties

The Departmental Parties scheduled during Commencement have been dropped from the schedule as a result of faculty opposition. According to Dean Lancaster, the faculty felt that the expense of entertaining graduating seniors and their families would be prohibitive, and did not wish to establish a precedent that might be continued Commencement after Commencement.

Actually, some departments have held "open house" for seniors and their families for many years, usually on the Sunday afternoon preceding Commencement Monday. During the visits to the faculty members' homes, seniors are offered the opportunity of having their parents meet and visit with their major professors.

It is anticipated that several departments will continue this practice, even though the faculty as a whole is not in favor of the idea.

Cap and Gown

The Cap and Gown for 1961 will be distributed to students in the Gullor Common Room approximately two weeks from now, according to Editor Charles Cullen.

The pre-Commencement date of May 25 has been tentatively set for the distribution of the University yearbook.

Cinema Guild Elects Officers

The Sewanee Cinema Guild elected new officers and discussed its 1961-62 program at a meeting held following the showing of Eisenstein's Ten Days That Shook the World on Friday, May 5.

Skip Hamberger was elected president of the Guild and Stuart McDaniel was chosen treasurer. They are both rising-sophomore KAs from Atlanta, Georgia.

Film selections for next year will be made in the following manner: Students who wish to recommend films for selection should give their suggestions to Hamberger; From these recommendations, a Cinema Guild committee will compile a list, from which the final selections will be made at an open meeting of the Guild following the showing of Grand Hotel on Friday, May 19.

'Mountain Goat' To Ride Again

Sewanee's Famous "Mountain Goat" line will restore passenger service for the first time in 26 years on Saturday, May 27, under the sponsorship of the National Railway Historical Society.

This one-day excursion, planned to increase interest in railroad historical lore and to raise funds for a planned restoration of several steam locomotives, will begin at the Chattanooga L&N Station at 8:00 a.m. EST on Saturday morning. From Chattanooga, it will puff its way to Cowan via Stevenson, Alabama and Sherwood, Tennessee.

At 9:30 a.m. CST, the "Mountain Goat" will leave Cowan, to climb the Mountain for Sewanee. According to student promoters of the trip, Sewanee students and residents would get the full effect of the rugged mountain climb only by driving to Cowan and taking the round trip there.

At Sewanee, some of the travelers will leave the excursion to tour the Domain. From the Village Depot, the train will leave at 10:30 a.m. and continue to Tracy City, arriving back at Sewanee at 1:30 p.m., reaching Cowan by 2:00 p.m. CST, and Chattanooga by 5:30 p.m. EST.

Round-trip tickets from Cowan to Tracy City through Sewanee will cost $3.00. Tickets will be on sale at the University Supply Store, Claramont, and the Sewanee Railway station.

Jazz Society Takes Student Poll

The Sewanee Jazz Society, in an effort to ascertain student opinion, offers this Jazz poll. The idea, of course, is to find out which jazz groups Sewanee students would most like to see presented on the Mountain. If you wish to express your preference, please fill in the ballot and submit it to any Jazz Society member (there are several lurking about the campus).

Please think about what you really like, not what current fads dictate. And don't ignore a group if it has already been presented by the Jazz Society. Politically, be serious. While the Kingston Trio and Lawrence Welk and Muddy Waters may all have their appeal, they are not Jazz groups.

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet... that of serving your country, when and where you are needed.

And the Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training... then put it to work. There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force ROTC. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months' training. The navigator training program enables you to win a flying rating and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

An Air Force officer's starting salary averages out to about what you could expect as a civilian. First there's your base pay. Then add on such things as tax-free rations and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay, and 30 days' vacation per year. It comes to an attractive figure. One thing more: As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will win graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Why not contact your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC15, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
