

Abstract

These stories explore aspects of the human experience, particularly the female experience. They employ elements of magical realism to try to capture the strangeness of being alive. My goal was to push myself and my stories beyond comfort zones, focusing on the areas that I want to improve upon most in my writing: developing a compelling story beyond the ground state, story length, and dialogue.