

Wilson, Cullen, and Tillinghast Elected

Business Managers Are Stirling and Rothpletz

by DON TIMBERLAKE

In the publications elections held Monday and Tuesday of this week the student body elected Dave Wilson, business editor, Charles Cullen as editor of the Cap and Gown, and Dick Tillinghast editor of the Mountain Goat.

John Rothpletz and Ted Stirling were elected business managers for the Cap and Gown, and the Mountain Goat. This morning there was a runoff between Grover Jackson and Harry Johnson for business manager of the PUPPER.

Wilson, KS, is a junior Spanish major from Kansas City, Missouri. He has had three years experience on the PUPPER staff and has been this year's assistant sports editor and a spring issue editor.

Cullen, a sophomore ATO from Panama City, Florida, has had two years experience on the Cap and Gown staff. This year he has served as classes editor for the yearbook.

New Gout editor, Tillinghast, sophomore KS from Memphis, Tennessee, was associate editor of the Gout and news editor of the PUPPER this year.

Cap and Gown business manager Rothpletz, a junior for Phi Delta from Dallas, Texas, recently selected for Phi Beta Kappa, has had two years' experience on the PUPPER staff.

Vaughan Gets Fulbright

ALEX VAUGHAN

James Alexander Vaughan, Jr., has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship to study abroad next year.

Vaughan, an ATO English major from Columbia, S. C., will study contemporary French literature, especially the works of Sartre. He will study at Dijon, France, where two other Sewanee Fulbright scholars of recent years, Tommy Kirby-Smith and Dave Evert, elected to do graduate work.

He has served as secretary of his fraternity, and is vice-president of Phi Beta Kappa, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Blue Key, Red Ribbon, Pi Gamma Mu, and the German Club.

Sen. Kefauver To Speak Here

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee will deliver a address in Sewanee on Saturday, April 23, 1960 at 7:15 p.m. The place of the program, which is being sponsored by the Sewanee Woman's Club and Pi Gamma Mu, has not been definitely decided upon yet.

Senator Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, which has recently inquired into the pricing practices of the drug industry, is probably the leading advocate of a vigorous antitrust program in Congress at the present time.

In the early 1950s Kefauver became known nationally for his conduct of an investigation into organized crime in the United States. On April 27 of this month Senator Kefauver will be among fifty of America's most distinguished national leaders to be honored when the Research Institute of America presents "The Living History of the Critical Years: 1933-1960," a special program designed by historian Allan Nevins.

Masque Has Trials For Howard Play

Purple Masque will hold readings tomorrow and Friday nights at St. Luke's Auditorium for parts in its May production of Sidney Howard's "The Late Christopher Bean." After the great success of their production of Richard II in February, it is hoped that many applicants will appear.

The play will hit the boards during comprehensive week—a boon to seniors in dire need of relaxation and laughter.

Bell Concert Slate Is Set

April concerts on the 56-bell Leonard Polk Memorial Carillon will include some special programs.

On April 24 the program will include folk songs in honor of guests and members of the Association for the Preservation of Tennessee Antiquities.

During April other special concerts will come at noon on International Carillon Day, Thursday, April 28, set as a day and time for ringing carillons all over the world, and at 6 p.m. on Walpurgis Night, Saturday, April 30. Bonhoffer explains that "on the eve of May Day it was once customary for all bells in Christendom to be rung all night for the purpose of scouring out witches in the air—witches being particularly bad on Walpurgis Night."

Variety Show Opens Thurs.

The 1960 Sewanee Variety Show will be held this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 21, 22, and 23 in Swayback Auditorium.

Thursday and Friday's performances will begin at 8:00 p.m., and Saturday's at 8:30 p.m.

The sixteen act show will include performances by Chaplain Collins, Dr. Monroe Spears and Dr. John Dick's. The show is produced by Mrs. Maryon Moise and directed by Mrs. David Collins.

Admission prices will be forty cents for the Thursday and Friday performances and fifty cents for Saturday's show.

Chemist Visits Sewanee Dept.

Dr. Lawrence Strong, chairman of the chemistry department of Earlham College, will visit Sewanee this week for about two days beginning this morning.

His visit is sponsored by the Division of Chemical Education of the American Chemical Society. The purpose of the visit is discussion with faculty and students some of the problems faced by chemistry departments in small, liberal arts colleges.

Dr. Strong is chairman of a committee composed of chemistry teachers in colleges and high schools who are attempting to outline and up-date chemistry courses in secondary schools.

One of Dr. Strong's particular interests is the use of geometrical ideas in chemistry theory.

On the agenda for his visit is at least one informal discussion open to all University students. The hour of this talk will be announced in Gallor.

Guy Carawan Presents Folk Songs, Ballads, Hymns

By ALEX SHIPLEY

At 8 o'clock last Wednesday night Guy Carawan began his folksong concert.

Every seat in St. Luke's auditorium was filled, and some members of the audience were forced to sit on the floor in order to hear the singer. His banjo and guitar playing with his singing held this overflow audience spellbound for an hour and a half. On many of his numbers he asked for and received the help of the assemblage.

Mr. Carawan sang a very wide repertoire of songs ranging from the old Negro spiritual, "We Shall Overcome Somebody," to a modern talking blues, "The Talking Atomic Blues" and several folk songs from other countries.

When asked if his environment helped to determine his taking up folk singing, he answered, "I was born and raised in Los Angeles. My father did nothing to cause me to do anything in folksinging—like teach me to play the guitar or anything like that. In fact, I didn't take up the study of folk music until I was about 21 years old."

"I pick up my music from here, there and everywhere. I hear it on records; I hear other people singing it; also I can read music and pick up some songs directly from the sheet music." Mr. Carawan does much traveling which enables him to collect songs from all sections of this country and from all parts of the world.

Presently he is on a southern tour. Tuesday, April 12 he appeared at Vanderbilt and on the following Friday he sang at Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens, Tennessee.

Blue Key Sing To Be Held Soon

The annual Blue Key Sing will be held Sunday, May 15 at 3:00 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel.

Every fraternity is expected to present at least two songs to the judges. Judges for the contest will be announced later.

Last year's winner was Phi Delta Theta.

Priestley Wins Chem Award

MAC PRIESTLEY

William M. Priestley of Rosedale, Miss., a sophomore, is Sewanee's 1960 winner of the Chemical Rubber Company Handbook Award for excellence in general chemistry.

The award was made by the chemistry department on the basis of course grades and a special examination in which five candidates competed.

"The large number of candidates reflects the increased number of good students in chemistry this year," commented Dr. David B. Camp, head of the department.

Winners in past years still at Sewanee are Bruce Keenan of Mobile, Ala. in 1957, John M. Stuart, Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., in 1958, and James Scheller of Henderson, Ky., in 1959.

OG Meets, Nominates Candidates

Turret Traffic Is Altered

The April meeting of the Order of Gownsmen was held Wednesday, April 13 in the Union Theater.

The major part of the meeting was concerned with the passage of the revised Constitution of the Order which was presented by Dennis Thompson. A vote was taken and the revision was approved, 115 to 12.

Two resolutions were passed. One proposed that no students should walk on the grass that has just been planted in the vicinity of Walsh-Elet Hall and the Library. The other suggested that the directions of travel on the turret stairs in Walsh-Elet be reversed so that the hand rails would always be on the right of persons using the stairs.

At this meeting three previous proposals of the OG were announced as having been accepted by the administration. These dealt with the time change in Sunday lunch, the extension of Exam Week, and the addition of another official bulletin board in the Union job office.

Nominations for officers in the Order for next year were accepted.

Discipline Committee

Perhaps the most laudable of the recent (and impressive) proposals by the Order of Gownsmen is the party supervision plan which involves "student groups." By this plan, the students themselves will be responsible for maintenance of relative sobriety, order, and decorum. This scheme is, in essence, confirmation of a nearly unanimous student acceptance of self-discipline—acceptance of the responsibilities of our student community.

Also it suggests that the student body feels capable of handling its own problems in an adult fashion, fully responsible for an unwillingness to do so in the past has provided unhappy consequences. Such a program will impose heavy demands on the Discipline Committee, which heretofore has had its hands bound by trivialities.

Menial offenses in the future will be handled by a committee of the sophomore gowmen, and the Discipline Committee will be free to handle the more serious offenses in the same attitude as in the same. This is a new realization by the Honor Council.

St. Mary's School To Present Play

Saint Mary's Theatre will present the Broadway hit, Time Remembered, by the French playwright Jean Anouilh, April 29, at 8 p.m.

Actresses performing in this production are Jean Wright of Chattanooga, who plays the duchess, Victoria Thoroughgood of Sewanee, playing Amanda, and Dinah Funk of Bowling Green, Kentucky, who plays the role of the prince. The supporting cast includes Blain Craven, Mary Kay Chastin, Mary Catherine Cheston, Pamela Roff, Toni Greber, Jane Solberger, Jennifer Bri, Mary Christine Greig, Nancy Chubb, Barbara Albee, and Lindsay James, Marion Soper, and Chloé Walling.

The play is under the direction of Thelma Straw. Tickets may be purchased at the door—Admits $1.00, Students and Children—fifty cents.

Now That Spring Is Here

Several years ago a group of Sewanee men made an excursion down the Mountain to a neighboring American Legion Post and came back with a three-quarter ton 57 mm anti-tank gun. The cannon was placed in the front yard of the old Beta house, gaily painted with peppermint candy stripes, spouting whales, and infinity symbols. The FBI, the state, the county, and innumerable police, the Legion, and the dean were brought in on the case. After several days of extensive sleuthing on the part of all these men, the case was solved, and the cannon restored to its original station. Said the Vice-Chancellor's wife, "I think it's very cute. It's the kind of foolishness I like."

Not many years later, a group of rather obfuscated Sewanee men wandered out onto the golf course where they happened to come upon a gigantic Caterpillar earth mover. They managed to get the machine started up and drove it up and down the fairways and greens finally ditching it in a ravine near Beckwith Point. The Caterpillar was hauled up out of the gully a few days later. The rest of the Spring, however, saw this same group on the course planting grass and filling up the six-inch deep trenches left by the creature.

Spring at Sewanee last year was not so good-humored—not so carefree—as it usually is. Much harmful. It resulted in the expulsion of several from the university and severe disciplinary measures to others. Perhaps the most far-reaching consequence has been the curtailing of dates and party activities of the entire student body.

Chaplain's Report

In the report of the Chaplain to the Board of Trustees last commencement, which has recently been published in the "Times" Report, we read: "There is no attempt here to be a prophet of gloom. Discourt some of what will be said on the basis that an 'old grad' is looking back and saying it. But the blunt fact of the matter is that students as a whole simply do not care enough about ordinary decent behavior to see that this becomes the undisturbed norm for campus life. It can be pointed out, in this difficult generation, that Sewanee is not alone in facing this problem, but this is little comfort."

Be sure you understand the kind of gentleness-tradition that is being referred to. It is not merely how a man dresses; as a matter of fact our standards on the dress front are much higher than they ever have. It is not some "Emily Post" matter of which jork to use. It is the deepest matter of concern for the other human being, recognition of others as beings with rights and privileges and feelings and existence of their own. Once the tradition was that we knew everyone's name by Thanksgiving. Now people who live on different floors of the same dormitory are unknown to each other. . . .

No Pride

Any person could go to any public place on this Domain at any time without the risk of having his date embarrassed by gutter language and gross behavior, and it was kept this way out of a considerate concern for others, and some pride in being a man. The filthy language, the gross behavior, even the switch-blade knife are not the exclusive property of the slum, or for those from underprivileged families.

Don't be alarmed. This is not an overly-pessimistic and overly-negative picture. It may be. And this is not yet the profile of the Sewanee Gentleman 1959. There are still the finest type of men as students here, and they are still the picture of one per cent of the student body, and with enough natural leadership in our other-directed society to get support from about another nine per cent of the student body. And that's about ninety per cent can't or won't fight it, or isn't fighting it.

And from the Report of the Vice-Chancellor: "To recognize the perennial nature of sin is not to condone it, or to pretend that it does not exist and cause; and I am sure that this year we have been afflicted with a glibious phase of vulgarity and wantonness. Fortunately, the serious offenders and ring leaders are very few, and we have had the good luck to apprehend some of the worst, and have dealt with them. . . . Perhaps the crisis has passed for the moment; but I am far more interested in getting at the basis of the trouble than I am in disciplining a few individuals who happen to get caught."

There has been a disgraceful deterioration of manners and morals on the part of a few, but an even more disturbing feature of the present period has been the passive acceptance of the situation by the rest of the student body. The large majority, who are as respectable and admirable as the best at any period, have themselves been at fault in doing nothing whatever to correct the situation. What moral indignation they could summon up has been too mild to be salutary. The current shallow psychology of "togetherness" makes "getting along" easily with people and being "accepted," as the paragon pose, far more important than being ethical or courageous. If we are going to get at the source of the recent decline in decency, we must do something for the student body as a whole, not just for the few conspicuous offenders. Only the student body as a whole can effect a real enduring cure. We need an instrument or agency through which to influence the standards of conduct of the whole undergraduate body; and such an instrument is already at hand. If we can only put it in good operating condition. . . .

In the past few years there seems to be exhibited an increasing lack of a sense of responsibility or humor in college behavior. Franks is a four-quarter ton ball-bearing, and they are rather malicious and destructive. And they are crude. "Wag when back men were men," they used their wits. It must have taken some doing to borrow a three-quarter ton cannon and send it everybody in on the fun from the U. S. Government that sort of prank. They might even expect it. They think it's "cute."

Spring Again

Sewanee is right in the middle of another Spring—and following such a winter, the powers that be can expect at least the usual amount of hail-raising. Sewanee will always drink too much and it will always have 'vod parties' and it will always hold off steam in one direction or another. ("Test cases," campus cops, a tough D. C., and 12 deans will not stop Sewanee from doing what they say has been.)

But the "vod" body must remember that there is a difference between throwing a cannon or golf course races in a Caterpillar—and dynamiting the chapel or public drunkenness or stealing permanent record cards. The difference is not so much in the final result of an act, but in its intention. One has a greater chance of survival if he were to carefully stand Sway-back up on end, then if he shouts ugly things at little old ladies. (But don't count on it.)

The important revelation which was made in the reports of the Chaplain and Vice-Chancellor and the sort of destructive, crude, and malicious deeds which have gone on last year and seem to be with us again this year, this revelation is that Sewanee is condoning an element which is foreign to Sewanee's principles, or even those of a decent, civilized society. For Sewanee to retain its dignity and self-respect, its "campus cops," tough professors, and D. C. members, dean, and student body cannot sit idly by. Partying and pranking—yes. Vulgarity and destruction—no. This spring, and especially the Spring Week-end, let us hope that many more will stand up or break us for a long time to come. Let's make a concerted effort not to lose out.

Letters to the editor

Intolerable Election Procedures

To the Editor of the PUEBLS: If last Thursday's abortive election had any positive results, it was to point out the need for an improvement of the election procedure. That any election be declared invalid is bad enough, but that it should occur as a result of carelessness, not only on the part of the voters who neglected to register, but also on the part of the townsmen supervising the polls, is downright intolerable for the candidates but also to the students who shall be governed or served by them.

I propose the following suggestions for improving and facilitating future elections:

1. That elections be held on the Monday after the names of the candidates are published in the PUEBLS.
2. That elections begin at 8:00 a.m. This would allow more time for voting and, perhaps, relieve congestion around the polls at the beginning of each hour.
3. That the ballots be kept in the possession of the supervising Townsman and given out only when the voter has been registered. This would prevent another invalid election.

4. That soliciting of votes be forbidden in the building in which the election is held and that the poll be kept clear of all except who are voting.

I hope these and other suggestions from the student body will be considered by the Executive Committee and that other suggestions, additions and/or improvements be made.

Sincerely,
BOB SCHNEIDER

To the Editor of the PUEBLS:

A great deal of the success of this year's Help Week was due to the fine work of the president of Pan-Hellenic, Roger Whitehurst of Beta Theta Pi. His cooperation was essential in the coordination of eight working groups, and we are very grateful to him.

Sincerely yours
ELIZABETH N. CHITTY

Sewanee Traditions Must Be Kept

This resolution was approved by the Dean of Men and the Vice-Chancellor of the University. Dr. Webb said he thought it would be thoroughly in keeping with Sewanee tradition for the directions to say one thing and everyone to do just the opposite.

With that background the resolution was overwhelmingly approved by the Order of Gownsmen in its regular meeting on April 13, 1960.

WHEREAS the directions in front of me encourage to the spirit, statures in Welsh-Elliot Hall direct proceedings to walk up and down the stairs with the handrails always on their left, and Whereas, this mistake by the company which resounded Welsh-Elliot cannot easily be remedied by shifting the four stones containing the directions, THEFORE BE IT RESOLVED that all students walk up or down the stairs so that the handrail is always on one's right, regardless of the directions near the stairs; that this resolution be printed in the next issue of the PUEBLS; and that it take effect the Thursday after the Wednesday on which that issue of the PUEBLS is circulated.

Aud After 36 Years Of Growth

The periodical School of April 10, 1924, there appeared an article on Sewanee. In it are described the principles and ideals of Sewanee, its physical attributes, "limp springs and virginal flourishes," that every professor knows every student and it is certain that every student knows all the professors" . . .

Touching directly on the students and faculty, it states:

"It will seem clear from all this that a Sewanee graduate ought to know something about everything, but at the same time it ought to be apparent that he has undergone a process of orderly thinking that should have produced a marked effect."

Not the least remarkable thing about the University of the South is its professional staff. To fill a chair at Sewanee, it is not enough to be a pedagogue. A Sewanee professor must have in him something of the missionary, and he must be able to offer other interests of life than those so immediately connected with his subject.

Tiger Talk

by STU ELLIOTT

This week will mark the home opening for Sewanee's first baseball team since 1922. Now that the poor weather that plagued the Mountain for so long has seemingly departed for good, this writer would again urge all who have even a fleeting interest in America's great summer pastime to make it out to the Sewanee ball park for the three games scheduled this week. This park is located on the road that runs past the laundry.

This Sewanee team couldn't be expected to measure up to the football or basketball teams in the overall quality of its play in its initial year as a varsity sport. However it will be a hustling ball club which is capable of hitting the long ball. No less than four left handed hitters will start for the Tigers, a fact which I hope will be the cause of effective fire works this week.

The Sewanee tennis team now has a record of one win and three losses. However all three losses were to schools which perennially turn out powerful squads. The latest loss came to the University of Cincinnati which produced Tony Trabert, former US Singles Champion and Davis Cup star. When the Tiger netmen faced competition more on their level, they trounced their opposition.

While on the subject of tennis, this corner would like to extend congratulations to the doubles team of Phil George and Ed Hatch for their play against Cincinnati. After an incredibly long first set they retained their poise and went on to victory over a prima donna duo from Cincy. This pair was under the impression that the wind only blew against them or some such nonsense.

Captain Batten Gets 'Bama Post

Due to a continuing requirement for medical treatment, Captain John E. Batten, III, of the AFROTC Department has had to be reassigned and is no longer with the Sewanee AFROTC Cadet Corps. Captain Batten has been assigned to the USAF Hospital, Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Alabama.

Captain Batten came to the Mountain in 1957, and in the years that he was here he served the Sewanee AFROTC as Commandant of Cadets and instructor of the Air Science 3 and 4 cadets.

Captain James F. Patton succeeds Captain Batten as Commandant of Cadets.

THEOLOG ARNOLD BUSH throws the discus for Sewanee to take a first against Howard College.

Tennis Team Loses Two To Tennessee, Cincinnati

The Sewanee tennis team lost two matches last week to run its record for the season to one win and three losses. The netmen were defeated last week by the same score to the University of Tennessee 8-1 and lost by the same score to the University of Cincinnati. Not recorded in last week's Purple was the 9-0 win they scored over David Lipscomb in Nashville.

Southwestern Trackmen Edge Sewanee, 69-62

by HUBBARD MILLER

On Saturday April 16 the Tiger trackmen traveled to Memphis for their second meet away from home. Despite taking first place in 10 of the 15 scheduled events, the Sewanee team was defeated 69-62.

There are many individual standouts from this meet who should be recognized for their outstanding performances in Memphis. Perhaps at the top of the list should be Arnold Bush, a Theolog from Laurel, Miss. who remains undefeated for the season. Bush excels in both the shot put and discus. He took first place in both of these events this past weekend.

Jerry Moore, still having trouble with a bad knee, placed first in the high jump and in the high hurdles.

Jim Davenport, a freshman, also was first place in two events: Davenport

PDT, KS Lead Softball Loop

The softball season's first week saw a confused beginning, inelement weather having made inroads into pre-season practice. Understandably, therefore, most teams are spotty on defense, the lack of good pitching being most noticeable. The Phi sees to have put together the best aggregation thus far, downing the Phi Gams, KAs, and Delta to tie the Kappa Sigs, who had an easy first week, for first. The Phi Gams are also strong, but a lack of defensive cohesiveness may hamper them. The KAs are in much the same situation, strong offensively, but weak on pitching. The Kappa Sigs sailed though their first week unbeaten, and may have enough momentum to edge into the first division at the season's close. The Betas, ATOs, and SAEs have enough material to make trouble for the leaders, but will have only moderate success. The weak sisters, Deltas, Theologs, Snakes, and Independents, vary only in degrees of failure.

In games last week: KS over BTP, Independents over Theologs, DTD over SN, PDT over KA, PGD over ATO, BTP over Independents, SAE over Theologs, KA over DTD, PDT over PGD, ATO over SN, BTP over Theologs, KS over SAE, PDT over DTD, PGD over SN, KA over ATO, KS over Independents, SAE over BTP, ATO over DTD. Chattanooga Drops Sewanee Linksters

The Sewanee golf team lost to the University of Chattanooga last week. As a result their record for the season evened out at two wins and two losses. The Moccasinus were led to a 10-8 victory on their home course by Darrell Broom who shot a two under par 69.

Results:

Tiger Teams Fill Spring Schedules

This week, Mountain fans will have a chance to see the baseball Tigers in action as they play host to Lambuth College tomorrow. Next Monday and Tuesday the Tigers will play Bethel on the Mountain and will be seeking to avenge their earlier losses. The track team will go to Birmingham this Friday for the two day Howard Invitation meet. This Friday the tennis team will try to get a winning streak started as they play Emory on the Mountain. 600 Completing an eventful weekend schedule are the golf matches against Lambuth and David Lipscomb here this Friday and Saturday.

Pi Gamma Mu Announces Applications Being Accepted

"The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu, The National Social Science Honor Society, is to improve scholarship in the social studies and to achieve synthesis therein; to inspire social service to humanity by an intelligent approach to the solution of social problems; to engender sympathy toward others with different opinions and institutions by a better mutual understanding; and to supplement and to support, but not to supplant existing social science organizations by promoting sociability and attendance at meetings."

Any student who believes he is eligible for consideration for election to membership is urged to submit a list of all the courses he has completed in the social science field with the grade received in each course (if known) to Bill Quarterman. This request for consideration for membership should be made within the next week.

Membership in Pi Gamma Mu is restricted to juniors and seniors who have completed at least twenty semesters-hours of social science with an average grade therein of not less than "B." The minimum requirement of twenty semesters-hours of credits includes the three core subjects of history, political science, and economics. In addition to these requirements, only students in the upper thirty-five percent of their class may be admitted into the Society.

Wednesday: The Goddess.

The Goddess traces the career of a southern girl from her unawaited birth through her attaining the tragic height of stardom. It is divided into three parts: Portrait of a Girl, where she is rejected by her mother; Portrait of a Young Woman, where she rebels by promiscuity, marries a neglected son of a movie star (Steve Hill), is divorced, and abandons her child; and Portrait of a Goddess (the bitch-goddess success), where she lives on liquor and dope, tries psychology and then religion for a while, and ends by attending her mother's funeral in the attendance condition which has now become permanent.

Kim Stanley plays the lead, and shows a sensitive and rare talent throughout. The picture is good, but is dragged out and quite tiring (even boring at times), and the ending becomes almost sickeningly sweet. It is, however, worth seeing.

taking for any country than to declare war on the United States—and be defeated." So says the prime minister to his sovereign, the Grand Duchess Gloriana XII of the Duchy of Grand Fenwick. It seems that Grand Fenwick, a tiny country in Europe, is about to lose its means of livelihood, exporting wine to the U. S. by California competition. So war is declared; and twenty knights, armed with bows and arrows, sail for New York with the intention of surrendering to the first person they meet, and then receive funds for rehabilitation.

Unfortunately, when they land, New York is having an air raid drill. Then the Field Marshall captures a scientist who has just produced the Q-Bomb, capable of wiping out two million square miles. They seize the scientist and the bomb, return to Grand Fenwick, and sheepishly explain to Grand Duchess Gloriana XII that they have won the war.

Up to this point the flick is hilarious. But when negotiations with the U. S. and European countries begin, it runs down. Peter Sellers, a poor man's Alec Guinness, plays three roles, the prime minister, Gloriana XII, and the field marshal, only adequately. But the first half of the flick makes it worth the effort.

Owl Flick Friday: Dankirk.

This English film is perhaps one of the best documentaries ever made. It describes the events of the evacuation of 330,000 British soldiers from the Dunkirk beaches of France in 1940, with no hard-liches or tear-jerking sentimentality—just the facts, employing news reels liberally.

Scenes flash from battlefield to home, concentrating somewhat on three principals: an indigent buckle manufacturer (Richard Attenborough), who is satisfied to let the war take its course while he gets rich on war orders; a cynical London war correspondent (Bernard Lee), and a corporal (John Mills), who is trying to get his detachment to the sea after having been separated from the regiment. It is an excellent film, the only fault being that it does not concentrate on any one character long enough to get the viewer involved in his life.

Saturday and Monday: 1001 Arabian Nights and Rhapsody Steel.

This is a full-length animated cartoon starring the near-sighted Mr. Magoo, and tells the tale of Aladdin, and his troubles with the magic lamp.

I can find nothing about Rhapsody.

Sunday and Tuesday: Beloved Infidel.

This flick is an abortive misadaptation of Sheila Graham's autobiography of her affair with F. Scott Fitzgerald during his last few years as a Hollywood hack. Jerry Wald, true to form, has watered down and sweetened up the story so as to make the film completely unedifying and even ludicrous. Gregory Peck, a terribly unconvincing intellectual, plays Fitzgerald as a misunderstood genius driven to drink by fortune and finally transfixed by a reforming act of love. Deborah Kerr is almost pathetic trying to play the hard-lipped Hollywood gossip, and the dialogue is the usual collection of Jerry Wald platitudes.

Do You Think for Yourself?

(TAKE A CRACK AT THESE QUESTIONS AND SEE IF YOU CONNECT*)

If you were offered a high-paying summer job as an animal trainer, would you (A) insist on small animals? (B) ask for pay in advance? (C) find out why professional won't take the job?

"Time heals all wounds" is a statement (A) denounced by antiseptic manufacturers; (B) as true as "Time wounds all heels"; (C) that means your mind can build its own scar tissue.

A B C

In traffic, when a driver behind you blows his horn, do you (A) go and sock him? (B) wonder what's wrong? (C) hope it'll settle his nerves?

A B C

When a pal bends your ear about why his filter cigarette is best, do you listen most to (A) his chatter about how good it tastes—regardless of how it filters? (B) his remark that the filter must be good because it's new? (C) his comment that both really good filtration and real tobacco taste are important?

A B C

Before you buy your next pack of cigarettes, take a moment to think about what you really want. Most men and women who think for themselves have studied the facts about filters and have chosen Viceroy . . . the one cigarette with a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.

*If you checked (B) in three out of four of these questions, you don't exactly flunk—but if you checked (C), you think for yourself!

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows — ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER—A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!
